

BLOODY BATTLE IN CUBA

13 Americans Killed and 10 of the Wounded Will Likely Die of Their Injuries.

AT LEAST FIFTY WOUNDED.

ABOUT FORTY CUBANS KILLED.

Less Than a Thousand Regulars and Rough Riders Dismounted and Attacked Two Thousand Spanish in the Brush. Drove Them Back From the Start, Stormed the Blockhouse Around Which They Made the Final Stand and Sent the Dons Scattering Over the Hills. The Enemy's Forces Had the Advantage of Position and Numbers—The Fighting Occurred About Five Miles From Santiago—The Regulars Were Under Command of General Young and the Rough Riders Under Colonel Wood. Americans Held a Position at the Threshold of Santiago—Troops Going Forward Toward the City.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT WANDA, OFF JURAGUA, June 24, via Playa del Este, Guantanamo bay, June 25.—This morning (Friday) four troops of the First cavalry, four troops of the Tenth cavalry and eight troops of Roosevelt's rough riders, less than 1,000 men in all, dismounted and attacked 2,000 Spanish soldiers in the thickets within five miles of Santiago de Cuba. The Americans beat the enemy back into the city, but they left the following dead upon the field:

Rough riders—Captain Allyn K. Capron of Troop L, Sergeant Hamilton Fish, Jr., Privates Tiltman and Dawson, both of Troop L, Private Dougherty of Troop A and Private W. T. Erwin of Troop F.

First cavalry—Private Dix, York, Bejork, Kolbe, Berlin and Lemnock. Tenth cavalry—Corporal White.

At least 50 Americans were wounded, including six officers. Several of the wounded will die.

Twelve dead Spaniards were found in the bushes after the fight, but their loss was doubtless far in excess of that.

General Young commanded the expedition and was with the regulars, while Colonel Wood directed the operations of the rough riders several miles west. Both parties struck the Spaniards about the same time and the fight lasted an hour.

The Spaniards opened fire from the thick brush and had every advantage of numbers and position, but the troops drove them back from the start, stormed the blockhouse around which they made the final stand and sent them scattering over the mountains.

The cavalrymen were afterward reinforced by the Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth infantry, part of the Ninth cavalry, the Second Massachusetts and the Seventy-first New York.

The Americans now hold the position at the threshold of Santiago de Cuba with more troops going forward constantly, and they are preparing for a final assault upon the city.

Captain McClintock, Troop B, shot through the right leg.

All the foregoing officers are rough riders.

Other officers wounded are:

Captain Knox, whose condition is serious.

Major Bell.

Lieutenant Bryan.

These officers are of the First cavalry.

The following are among the soldiers wounded:

Rough Riders.

Troop B—Privates E. M. Hill, Shelley F. Ishler, M. S. Newcomb, Fred N. Beale and Corporal J. D. Rhodes.

Troop E—Corporal James F. Bean, Privates Frank B. Booth, Albert C. Hartle, R. G. Bailey, H. Alvers, E. J. Atherton, Clifford Reed and Sergeant G. W. Arringo.

Troop G—Sergeant Thomas F. Cavanaugh, Corporal L. L. Stewart, Privates George Rowland, H. J. Haefner, Michael Coyle, R. M. Reid and M. Russell.

Troop L—Privates J. R. Kean, John

P. Dernap, Thomas F. Meagher, Edward Calborst and Nathaniel Poe. Troop B—Privates Russell, Gaines, Miller, Cross, Braxton and Wheeler. Troop I—Privates Ridd and Mayberry.

Edward Marshall, correspondent of the New York Journal and Advertiser, was seriously wounded in the small of the back.

It is probable that at least ten in the list of wounded will die.

About 40 Cubans are reported killed. NEW YORK, June 25.—Hamilton Fish, Jr., one of the killed, was one of the young New Yorkers, of good position and family, who went to the front with Roosevelt's rough riders. He was of distinguished ancestry, his family being one of the oldest in this state. His father, Nicholas Fish, is the son of the late Hamilton Fish, who was secretary of state in Grant's cabinet. He is a banker and lives in this city. Hamilton Fish was over six feet tall, of herculean build, and rowed as No. 7 of the Columbia college crew in its winning race of 1894 over the Poughkeepsie course.

A FLAG RAISING.

Stars and Stripes Float From a Cuban Mountain Top—Shafter Very Aggressive—Advance of Troops.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT DAUNTLESS, OFF BAIQUIRI, June 23, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 25.—Late yesterday afternoon the American flag was flown from the top of Altares mountain, back of Baiquiri, amid wild enthusiasm. The men cheered and waved their hats, the warships and transports let loose their sirens and bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Major Lamotte, with two men of the volunteer cavalry, climbed the heights and raised the flag.

The Pan-American ironworks, which were destroyed before the troops landed yesterday, belonged to the Steelton company, near Baltimore.

The troops are in fine spirits and are overjoyed at the aggressive attitude assumed by General Shafter, who believes he can force his way into Santiago and strike the Spanish a heavy blow.

The celerity of the forward movement of the United States army has embarrassed the quartermaster's department. General Lawton sent back this afternoon an urgent request for more rations. The mules and stores are already ashore, but some of the trappings are still on board ship. They will be taken off during the night. Colonel Humphreys says he will have a pack train loaded and on its way by daylight tomorrow. It should reach Juragua before night. An attempt to send supplies to Juragua this afternoon in boats failed.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT DAUNTLESS, off Juragua, Province of Santiago de Cuba, June 23, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 25.—The advance of the American army has reached the edge of the table land in which the harbor of Santiago de Cuba lies. Here, seven miles from Morro castle, as the crow flies, the main body of the troops has united, and the Spaniards are in full retreat toward Santiago de Cuba. They may attempt a surprise, but a decisive engagement is not expected for several days.

General Lawton's brigade, which rested last night at Demejayabo, four miles west of Baiquiri, resumed its march at daylight. Before noon his brigade, consisting of the Twenty-second infantry, the First infantry, the Second Massachusetts volunteers, with companies of the Eighth cavalry, half of the Fourth cavalry and several companies of the Twenty-fifth colored cavalry, occupied Juragua, five miles beyond, and the American flag was hoisted there.

Colonel Wagner, with a small reconnaissance party of about 40 men, brushed against the flank of a retreating Spanish column, 200 strong, at Firmezas. A dozen shots were fired by the Spaniards as Colonel Wagner fell back. Before General Lawton could bring up the Twenty-second, the van regiment, the Spaniards had decamped westward.

Juragua was abandoned by General Linars and 1,200 Spanish with such haste that they had no time to burn the town, though an ineffectual effort was made to destroy the locomotives of the railroad and the rolling stock. General Linars retreated to Seville, six miles west of Juragua by road and nine miles from Santiago de Cuba.

A detachment of 170 Cubans, under Colonel Aguirre, collided with the Spanish rear guard. The Cubans lost two men killed and had seven men wounded. The Spanish loss is not known. One Spaniard was mached.

General Chaffee, with the Ninth cavalry, the remainder of the Eighth and Fourth, Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth infantry, reached Juragua at dark.

General Bates, with the reserve of the Twentieth infantry, and Colonel Wood's Rough Riders, dismounted, with a dynamite gun, hurried forward from Baiquiri at 3 o'clock, proceeding by forced marches.

When the couriers brought the news that Juragua had been occupied the troop ships which had not disembarked their troops steamed to Juragua with the view of landing them there. But the heavy sea beating on the beach made it impossible to get the boats through the surf.

A RAID ON SPAIN.

United States Ships to Bombard the Coast Towns Should

CAMARA ATTACK DEWEY.

If the Cadiz Fleet Goes Through the Suez Canal, It Will Be Sent.

DEWEY CAN TAKE CARE OF HIMSELF

Before the Spanish Ships Can Reach the Philippines, He Will Be Well Reinforced and Have the Shore Batteries With Him—The Administration Believes It Will Take Severe Measures to Bring the Spanish People to a Realization of the Hopelessness of Continuing the Present War.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—If Spain is foolhardy enough to send the Cadiz fleet through the Suez canal to attack Dewey in the Philippines, it is announced on good authority that before the last Spanish vessel has passed through the canal an American squadron will be steaming at full speed across the Atlantic straight for the coast of Spain to bring the war home to the Spanish people. There is no doubt that Dewey can take care of himself against this Cadiz fleet, since his own squadron will be reinforced by ironclads long before Camara's ships sight the bay of Manila, and he will have the shore batteries with him instead of against him in the struggle.

But it has been concluded by the administration that nothing save the most severe measures will suffice to bring the Spanish people to a realizing sense of the hopelessness of the continuance of the present war, and even kindness, it is held, will dictate such a blow as that it is proposed to administer if the Spanish persist in this last project. After the fall of Santiago and the capture or destruction of Cervera's squadron Sampson will have an abundance of vessels to spare for the task set for him. Probably he will constitute the attacking fleet in two squadrons, the first a flying squadron to be composed of the swiftest vessels of the fleet, such as the Columbia, Minneapolis, Harvard, Yale, St. Louis, St. Paul, New Orleans and such craft.

This will be followed under another command, either Sampson or Schley, by the battleships which Captain Clark's experience with the Oregon has shown can easily be counted on for the voyage across the Atlantic. With the Iowa, Oregon, Indiana, Massachusetts and Texas, all battleships, supplementing the New York and Brooklyn, armored cruisers, and the less powerful but speedy vessels of the flying squadron, the Spanish coast would be speedily swept clear of all commerce, all Spanish shipping would be destroyed and some of the best ports blockaded or bombarded.

WILL SUE FOR PEACE.

Spain to Have a New Cabinet—Cortes Dissolved Without Cheers For the Throne.

LONDON, June 29.—The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "When the cortes closed martial law was proclaimed. The Sagasta cabinet will resign and make way for a new government, which will open negotiations for peace."

The Madrid correspondent of The Financial News publishes this morning a report of an interview with an ex-member of the ministry, practically The Daily Telegraph's Madrid dispatch, and adding:

"Senor Gamazo will be the new premier, with Senor Salvador at the exchequer and possibly two Silvestras will join this cabinet, which will conclude peace and prepare the way for a Silvela cabinet. There is no doubt that Spain will lose all her colonies."

"Admiral Camara's squadron left Cadiz to calm public opinion. Camara well knows that before he arrives at the Philippines peace will be made."

Passed Camara's Squadron.

LONDON, June 25.—A special dispatch from Algiers says that the British steamer Hampton reports that she passed Admiral Camara's squadron, including 5 or 6 cruisers and about 12 transports Wednesday morning sailing at half speed to the eastward. The ships showed no colors. The cruisers were towing torpedoboats.

GENERAL GOBIN'S COMMAND.

Troops Leave For Santiago—A Lieutenant to Be Courtmartialled.

CAMP ALGER, Va., June 25.—The Ninth Massachusetts and two battalions of the Thirty-fourth Michigan broke camp last evening. They took steamers and departed for Newport News, from which point they will embark for Santiago.

Brigadier General Gobin arrived yesterday and will be put in command of the Third brigade, to consist of the Eighth, Twelfth and Thirteenth Pennsylvania regiments.

First Lieutenant Charles G. Ames will be courtmartialled today. He went to Columbus to be married without leave.

TENTH PENNSYLVANIA.

Boys on the Zealandia Send Cheering News by a Passing Ship—All Were Well.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—At 12 o'clock on the afternoon of the 20th, in latitude 38.53 N., longitude 144.55 W., the steamer Peru from the Orient via Honolulu sighted the transport steamers China, Senator, Colon and Zealandia. Signals were exchanged with all the vessels. "All well on board" was the message the flags fluttered to the liner.

The Zealandia, conveying the Pennsylvania troops, hove to and sent a boat off to the Peru. Pennsylvania's sons had messages to send to the United States. A quantity of mail from the troops was brought to San Francisco.

Cheer for the friends of those on the Zealandia is contained in the following message: "At Sea, June 20. Tell our people we have had a pleasant trip and all are well."

BLAKELEY BURIED AT SEA.

Disposition of the Wounded From a Spanish Shell on the Texas.

PLAYA DEL ESTE, Guantanamo Bay, Province of Santiago de Cuba, June 25.—The remains of F. O. Blakeley, the apprentice of the battleship Texas who was struck and killed by a six-inch shell while the Texas was shelling the batteries of Santiago de Cuba on Wednesday last, have been buried at sea.

Four of the eight others who were wounded at the time Blakeley was killed have been brought here and placed on the hospital ship Solace. The other wounded men will remain on the Texas. The battleship was not seriously damaged by the shell.

LIEUTENANT BLUE COMMENDED.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Secretary Long has addressed a letter of commendation to Lieutenant Victor Blue of the

LIEUTENANT VICTOR BLUE.

LONG WROTE TO HOBSON.

Secretary Told the Hero How Much His Act Was Appreciated.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—A letter has been sent to Assistant Naval Constructor R. P. Hobson by Secretary Long, commending him for his heroism in sinking the Merrimac in the harbor of Santiago. The secretary declares that his "readiness for emergency, fertility of resource and extraordinary heroism are qualifications most enviable for any naval officer to possess."

Secretary Long tells Hobson that he is held in grateful remembrance by his countrymen and appreciated by the civilized world. The letter will be conveyed to Hobson, who is a prisoner at Santiago, as soon as opportunity offers.

TO THE PHILIPPINES.

Arrangements Practically Completed For a Force to Sail Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Arrangements for the sailing of the next expedition of troops for Manila are practically complete, and every effort will be made to start on Monday, but the probability is that there will be some further delay.

Major General Merritt has left the matter of embarkation to the control of General Otis. It is expected to begin Sunday.

The whole quota of troops, including those who are to go on the Newport with General Merritt on Wednesday, as well as those which have been assigned to the five transports scheduled to sail on Monday, number roughly 6,000 men.

ROBBER'S CRIME

Killed a Burlington Engineer Near White Hall, Ills.

AN ATTEMPTED HOLDUP.

BLOODHOUNDS PUT ON THE TRAIL.

As the Train Stopped at a Crossing, a Masked Man Climbed Over the Tender With a Levelled Revolver—Fireman Jumped From the Engine Just as the Fatal Shot Was Fired—Struck the Engineer, Taking Effect in His Side—The Victim Died Soon Afterward—Had Been on the Road Ten Years.

WHITE HALL, Ills., June 25.—Train No. 49, the northbound express on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, was delayed about one mile north of White Hall late last night by an attempted holdup and Engineer Fred Dempsey was shot and killed.

As the train stopped at the C. and A. crossing a masked man climbed over the tender with a leveled revolver. Fireman George Savage jumped from the engine just as the robber fired, the bullet taking effect in the engineer's side. The robber then sprang from the engine and fled. It is thought he had a confederate, but both took alarm at the shot and ran.

Engineer Dempsey was carried into the baggage car unconscious and died within 20 minutes. He lived at Beardstown, Ills., and had been on the Burlington road ten years.

Bloodhounds were immediately put on the trail of the murderer.

TROOPS FOR FT. BRADY.

Companies of Eighteenth Regiment Enroute—Marriage on the Train Near Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—Companies D, E and H of the Eighteenth Pennsylvania regiment passed through Pittsburg yesterday on the way to Fort Brady, Mich.

A pretty romance of this trip was the wedding of Captain R. W. A. Simmons, a well-known newspaper man, to Miss Delcena Anderson, a pretty Knoxville schoolteacher, between Pittsburg and Allegheny by Rev. Lemuel O. Barnes, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, of which Captain Simmons is a member, being also superintendent of the Chinese class.

MALITIA IN HAWAII.

A Honolulu Regiment May Be Sent to the Philippines.

HONOLULU, June 17, via San Francisco, June 25.—Orders have been issued requiring all members of the Hawaiian national guard, active and honorary, to report immediately to their respective commanding officers the amount and character of any and all equipments in their possession.

It is believed that in the event of the annexation the local regiment will at once be hurried to Manila.

The United States government has awarded a contract for the erection of a new coaling station.

On the 15th Consul General Heywood had but 1,000 tons of coal on hand. On the same day he purchased 2,600 additional tons. The United States government has 7,000 tons afloat for this port.

Volunteer Hospital Ship.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President McKinley yesterday commissioned the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association to fit out and conduct a hospital ship under the provisions and protection of article 13 of the Geneva (Red Cross) convention. The ship is to be known as The Bay State, and O. A. Siegfried, medical inspector, is detailed to go on board. The vessel will act in the nature of a volunteer hospital ship during the war.

TWO FIREMEN KILLED.

About Eight Other Persons Injured In a Fire at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Two firemen were killed and about eight others injured by a fire which broke out last night in the works of Thomas Potter's Sons & Co., manufacturers of oilcloths and linolium, Second and Venango streets.

The dead are: James Magee, engine No. 45; unknown fireman. A third man, Harry Coffin, may die.

The loss is estimated at $250,000, and is probably covered by insurance.

Stephens Waived a Hearing.

EASTON, Pa., June 25.—George H. Stephens, the former Lafayette college professor and self-confessed fire fiend, waived a hearing before an alderman yesterday. He has not as yet employed counsel.

TO THE PHILIPPINES.

Arrangements Practically Completed For a Force to Sail Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Arrangements for the sailing of the next expedition of troops for Manila are practically complete, and every effort will be made to start on Monday, but the probability is that there will be some further delay.

Major General Merritt has left the matter of embarkation to the control of General Otis. It is expected to begin Sunday.

The whole quota of troops, including those who are to go on the Newport with General Merritt on Wednesday, as well as those which have been assigned to the five transports scheduled to sail on Monday, number roughly 6,000 men.

ROBBER'S CRIME

AN ATTEMPTED HOLDUP.

BLOODHOUNDS PUT ON THE TRAIL.

As the Train Stopped at a Crossing, a Masked Man Climbed Over the Tender With a Leveled Revolver—Fireman Jumped From the Engine Just as the Fatal Shot Was Fired—Struck the Engineer, Taking Effect in His Side—The Victim Died Soon Afterward—Had Been on the Road Ten Years.

WHITE HALL, Ills., June 25.—Train No. 49, the northbound express on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, was delayed about one mile north of White Hall late last night by an attempted holdup and Engineer Fred Dempsey was shot and killed.

As the train stopped at the C. and A. crossing a masked man climbed over the tender with a leveled revolver. Fireman George Savage jumped from the engine just as the robber fired, the bullet taking effect in the engineer's side. The robber then sprang from the engine and fled. It is thought he had a confederate, but both took alarm at the shot and ran.

Engineer Dempsey was carried into the baggage car unconscious and died within 20 minutes. He lived at Beardstown, Ills., and had been on the Burlington road ten years.

Bloodhounds were immediately put on the trail of the murderer.

TROOPS FOR FT. BRADY.

Companies of Eighteenth Regiment Enroute—Marriage on the Train Near Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—Companies D, E and H of the Eighteenth Pennsylvania regiment passed through Pittsburg yesterday on the way to Fort Brady, Mich.

A pretty romance of this trip was the wedding of Captain R. W. A. Simmons, a well-known newspaper man, to Miss Delcena Anderson, a pretty Knoxville schoolteacher, between Pittsburg and Allegheny by Rev. Lemuel O. Barnes, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, of which Captain Simmons is a member, being also superintendent of the Chinese class.

On the 15th Consul General Haywood had but 1,000 tons of coal on hand. On the same day he purchased 2,600 additional tons. The United States government has 7,000 tons afloat for this port.

Volunteer Hospital Ship.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President McKinley yesterday commissioned the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association to fit out and conduct a hospital ship under the provisions and protection of article 13 of the Geneva (Red Cross) convention. The ship is to be known as The Bay State, and O. A. Siegfried, medical inspector, is detailed to go on board. The vessel will act in the nature of a volunteer hospital ship during the war.

WINDING UP HIS WORK

Engineer McConnell Is Almost Done.

COMPANY HAS ALL FACTS

It Will Therefore Be Known In a Very Short Time Whether the Cumberland Branch Will Be Extended to a Point Opposite This Place This Summer.

Some day next week certain officials of the Pennsylvania company will be placed in possession of all the facts concerning the extension of the Cumberland branch, and it will not be long until the world will know whether the line is to be built.

Engineer McConnell, who has been cross-sectioning the line, looking after land lines and locating houses, will complete his work tonight. His report will be forwarded at once to Pittsburgh and when turned over to the proper officials and added to what has already been sent in will make an exhaustive report of what has been done. Only a few days will then be required to make the decision, and if it is favorable the contract will be let.

J. E. McDonald, who has been looking after the right of way, has several small contracts to be closed, but with that done his work will also be completed.

Those who should know declare the line will be built during this year.

NO EXTENSION

Until the Iron Mill in Wellsville Is Completed.

Superintendent Andrews, of the street railway company, stated this morning that no more tracks would be laid until the new iron mill in Wellsville is completed.

It is the intention of the company to extend the Wellsville end of the line about a mile, but when this work will commence could not be learned. Mr. Andrews stated nothing would be done in improving any other part of the line at present.

CAPTAIN HILL IS ILL.

He Is at Present Confined to His Quarters.

The Camp Alger correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch says:

"Captain William M. Hill, of the East Liverpool company, is sicker today. He first had pinkeye, but now his throat is affected, and he is confined to quarters."

Captain Hill's many friends in this city will hear with regret of his illness.

ACCEPTED THE INVITATION.

Grand Army Will Enter Heartily Into the Event.

The Grand Army held a meeting last night and among other things decided to accept the invitation to take part in the Fourth of July celebration. The committee appointed by the meeting held at city hall was endorsed.

THE FIRE OF OUR SHIPS.

Some Incidents of the Bombardment at Santiago.

WATCHING EFFECT OF THE SHOTS.

Best Work Done at 2,200 to 2,800 Yards. Reasons Why the Targets Were Difficult to Hit—The Dolphin's Play With a Spanish Military Train—Belief That Cuba Can Be Effectively Occupied Only by Maintaining Every Advance Made.

The chief interest in the bombardment of the fortifications at the entrance to Santiago de Cuba harbor the other morning was in watching the landing of individual shots. The flagship New York was the best placed ship in the fleet for seeing those that struck along the bluffs to the east, and a majority of the most effective shots came from her own guns. The New York took her station nearer to the Morro than any other ship, and she was also to windward of all the other vessels except the Dolphin. With a very few exceptions the landing of every shot could be seen either from the bow or the stern of the ship, and the good marksmanship displayed was largely due to the timely hints given by those stationed there.

The first range used was 4,000 yards, but as the ship drifted inshore with the current this was reduced rapidly to 1,800. The most effective shots were at from 2,200 to 2,800 yards. At this distance there was opportunity for one to step to the extremity of the ship after a shot was fired and to catch a glimpse of the cliffs from under the canopy of smoke from the gun's discharge. The course of the whiffing shell was not apparent to the untrained eye, but its landing made a blotch on the landscape that was easily seen.

The targets were difficult ones. Nearly all the batteries of the Spaniards were situated a little back of the crest of the ridge, and with an inch too great elevation of the guns the shells sped on to the harbor and hills beyond, where their execution was problematical at best, although there was the comfort of knowing that there were batteries and ships in the general direction which they took. With an insufficient elevation of the guns the shells took effect on the rugged cliffs below the Spanish batteries. It was these shots that were most beautiful, though the damage they did the enemy was probably slight.

Some shells struck soft spots on the cliffs, and, exploding, sent a great mass of reddish earth and small stones skyward, the debris falling over the crest of the cliff or back into the sea below, while the white smoke floated away lazily above. Others struck point blank and burst into radiating, scintillating fragments, whose trails were thin lines of bluish smoke that looked like the ribs of an open fan. Occasionally one seemed to settle in a crevice, and after an angry spurt of smoke a huge boulder, blasted from its place, would slide and roll downward and plunge into the sea. One portion of the cliff seemed to be of harder material than the rest. From it the shells glanced and rebounded in every direction, sometimes in straight lines and sometimes in corkscrewlike spirals that gave one a very distinct impression of the terrible force of their impact. The most beautiful of these were those that returned directly upon the course over which they had come and those that shot straight upward and were lost from sight as the glowing metal, heated by that instant of incalculable friction, soared into the overhanging clouds. Accompanying the visual phenomena was an almost continuous roar as the detonations of discharge and explosion struck the ear in interminable reverberations from sea and sky and mountain side.

The shells that took effect on the edge of the cliff were different from those below. A quick eye could discern the guns thrown from their incasements, the houses torn from their foundations and the trees uprooted. Men could be seen running about, too, and it must have been that many of them were mangled in the concussions. It was after shots like these that the gunners on the flagship sighed with satisfaction and smiled the grim war smile that denotes pleasure in destruction done. The men on deck clap one another on the back and shout congratulations to the sweating gun crews. The gun captain, as his men swab out the smoking piece, rubs his bare arm across his forehead and asks, "What did that do?" A dozen answer his question with eyes still fixed on the cliff to note the next shot. The word is passed to the conning tower and the bridge; from the masthead, the quarter deck and the forecabin messenger boys come running with reports of another gun disabled, and the order goes back, "Send one more shot, same elevation, a little to the left."

The other afternoon the Dolphin figured in two jokes—war jokes, that require a certain disregard for danger to be fully appreciated. After the other ships retired from the bombardment the Dolphin remained at her station, firing desultorily at the beach. She was opposite a cut through which runs the little railroad that connects the iron mines to the east with the dock half way up Santiago harbor. In the cut was a train-load of Spanish troops, and the first joke was most decidedly on them, for as often as the forward end of the train appeared at one end of the cut the Dolphin let drive a shot at it, and the train ran back. As often, too, as the rear end of the train left the other end of the cut it was met by another shot. For over two hours the game continued, the Dolphin firing at a diminutive fort nearby when neither end of the train offered a target. The dispatch boat's persistency was finally rewarded, and at half past 2 she steamed up to the flagship and reported, "We have disabled a train of troops and dismantled a blockhouse, sir," and went back to her blockading station.

It was two hours later that she again steamed up to the flagship and hailed her:

"May I have permission to shell the beach again? Spaniards are attempting to relieve the train I disabled."

There was a pause while a messenger sought the admiral and then the hail: "Dolphin there! Permission is granted," and off went the Dolphin.

She headed for the cut and fired one shot as she stopped her engines and swung broadside on to the beach. As though her shot had been a signal, two flashes answered from one of the Spanish batteries inside the harbor, and before the smoke had drifted away two shells dropped, one ahead and one astern of the Dolphin, neither more than 100 yards away. Then it was that the joke was on the Dolphin, and many a man in the fleet is ready to maintain that the vessel beat her trial speed record in resuming her station.

The incident gives a hint of Spanish fighting methods. The battery, though not in the direct line of fire during the morning bombardment, had evidently been deserted at that time, though several of the bombarding ships were within its range. It is the unexpected moves initiated by fear and cowardice and consummated with wile and treachery that are the greatest menace of the nation with which we are at war. If the recent bombardment had been followed up with occupation by the troops now expected here, it would have ended much of the fighting in this vicinity, and it is the impression off Santiago that the occupation of Cuba can only be accomplished by following up and maintaining every advance. One shot clears a path through a Spanish army, though it kills no man, but like a path through water it will be filled again unless maintained.—New York Sun.

COUNT CASSINI ON WAR.

Russian Minister Says It Teaches Men the Virtues of Patience and Sacrifice.

Tall, impressively a military man in his bearing, with a gray mustache and superb eyes, Count Cassini captivated attention at the Waldorf-Astoria. It was said of him there by a man whose criticism is always precise that he had too much politeness to affect the outward expression of it. Politeness was expressed in the count's eyes, kindly, quiet, affable. He said: "It would be very unfortunate if the affection which has always united America and Russia were not to be continued. I have always admired the United States and the day that I have spent in New York has been full of valuable impressions. I wish I could stay here longer."

He was asked if he liked war, and the question seemed to surprise him, but he said: "Imposed on empires through necessity, war is the great educator of humanity. It is through war that men are trained to all the virtues that elevate and sustain nations. It is through war that they learn patience, firmness, contempt for danger, seek glory and make sacrifice. The day when shepherds rolled rocks to form a wall behind which they defended their wives and their oxen the first human society was formed and the progress of arts was assured. But I am delivering a lecture."—New York Journal.

A GREEN VOLUNTEER.

He Was Exceptionally Verdant For One With a Commission.

Some of these volunteers are rather fresh when it comes to military etiquette. They are telling of a young lieutenant down in Tampa who was sitting by the door of General Wade's headquarters, talking to some officers of the regular army, when General Wade and his staff entered. The regular officers arose and saluted the general, but the volunteer lieutenant sat still.

"That is General Wade, commander in chief," said one of the regulars. "Why don't you salute him?" "Oh, I have only been here a few days," replied the volunteer, "and have not yet been introduced."—Boston Herald.

THE FIRST DEFEAT.

A Chinese Servant Outwits General Merritt In His Hotel.

Major General Merritt, grim old warrior of a score of fields, head of the Manila army, military governor of the Philippines, has met his first defeat. He got it from a yellow, lantern jawed, slant eyed Chinese armed with a wash rag and a bucket of suds.

When the general entered the suit which had been provided at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, he found that important business awaited attention, says the San Francisco Call. He desired to discuss affairs of state. A Chinese servant was in the room washing windows. They did not particularly need washing, but the yellow fellow was there under orders, and he proposed to finish the job. The general asked him to take his suds and go.

"Me no sabe," replied the saffron son of toil, splashing more water on.

The general argued, but it was useless. He scolded and harangued, but to no effect. Affairs of state might wait, but the Chinese was bent on cleaning the windows. He looked midway at the general and dipped anew into the suds. "Me no sabe" was all he said. The general, being a student of human nature as well as of the art of war, suspected that the intruder was lying.

"John," said he, with great solemnity, "don't you know I could have you shot?" "Yon no shootee me," replied John. "Go shootee Spaniard. Me Melican man's fiend. Me alle same stars and stipes," and a fresh dash of suds struck the pane. The general was getting impatient. There was no use in diplomacy. "Git!" he yelled. "Vamoose! Clear out! You sabe 'clear out,' you heathen?" "Me no sabe 'clear out,'" answered John. "Me sabe Melican flag. Me sabe washee window."

The military governor of the Philippines was in despair. Just then a chambermaid passed the open door. "Say," said the general, "come in and induce this heathen to get out." The chambermaid came in, broom in hand. "See here," she remarked to John, "skip or I'll break this broom over your cocoonut." John picked up the bucket of suds and started for the hallway. As he reached the door he winked at the general. "Me no sabe much; me sabe war," he said, and went his way.

THE SHOOTING STAR LIGHT.

William A. Eddy's Experiment With a New Night War Signal.

William A. Eddy, the kite expert; Frederick M. Slater and Harold Ramage have experimented with a new night war signal called the "shooting star" light. Mr. Eddy raised two of the kites, each seven feet in diameter, to a height of 900 feet. After they were steady in the air he attached one end of the kite cable for a distance along the ground. To this cable was fastened a twopound lighted cellar lantern of five candle power.

When everything was ready, Mr. Eddy released the line on the ground and the kites immediately rose higher on getting the extra rope. The lantern shot straight upward into the air, held by a knot in the kite cable. When Mr. Slater gave a sharp side jar to the cable, the lantern was released and descended until within 20 feet of the earth, when it was run upon two spreading cables, to save it from being broken.

Mr. Eddy says that the "shooting star" signal can be seen at a much greater distance if the light is at a standstill and holds that by the use of variously colored lights communication could be carried on at night between different divisions of the army in places without telegraph and telephone facilities.—New York Herald.

CAN'T DENY IT.

When the Facts Are Brought Home to Us, and By Our Neighbors, Too—They Are East Liverpool Facts.

A wholesome suspicion is one of our characteristics as a people. In matters worthy of investigation we want real tangible facts regarding it. The word of those we know; the nearby evidence obtainable, are generally what we most desire. When we call on a neighbor, a man of business at that, and say: "You have had some experience with so-and-so; what do you think of it?" and he answers: "Just the thing, I know, because I have tried it." It goes a long way in helping our decision. This is always the case with Doan's Kidney Pills. Everybody who has used them for any kidney complaint will tell you, "They are just the thing." Why? Because they do the work every time and in all disordered conditions of the kidneys. The proof lies with your neighbors. Many have been cured in East Liverpool, and are ready to tell you or anyone enquiring.

The majority of our citizens know that Mr. Thos. Laughlin, of 172 Sophia street, has been unable to work at his calling, that of an engineer, for two years, that his condition was serious and that little hope was entertained of a return to his old-time health and strength. Read his own account of the change that took place through using Doan's Kidney Pills. He says: "I caught cold and neglected it. Result, it settled in my back and kidneys, forced me to quit work, and almost cost me my life. I could not move without suffering and often could neither sit, stand or lie for pain. The secretions of the kidneys went wrong and distressed and annoyed me both night and day. I took medicines for two years, but did not get well. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Noticing some improvement by the time I had taken the first one-half box I continued until I took four boxes, and my back was all right as well as the urinary trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills are without a doubt a grand remedy. I will endorse them at all times. I will substantiate my statement of Doan's Kidney Pills if anyone will call at my home to investigate for themselves. My wife had some backache also; she took Doan's Kidney Pills and was cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers for 50 cents per box. By mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name. Doan's, and take no other.

The gun captain, as his men swab out the smoking piece, rubs his bare arm across his forehead and asks, "What did that do?" A dozen answer his question with eyes still fixed on the cliff to note the next shot. The word is passed to the conning tower and the bridge; from the masthead, the quarter deck and the forecastle messenger boys come running with reports of another gun disabled, and the order goes back, "Send one more shot, same elevation, a little to the left."

The other afternoon the Dolphin figured in two jokes—war jokes, that require a certain disregard for danger to be fully appreciated. After the other ships retired from the bombardment the Dolphin remained at her station, firing desultorily at the beach. She was opposite a cut through which runs the little railroad that connects the iron mines to the east with the dock half way up Santiago harbor. In the cut was a train-load of Spanish troops, and the first joke was most decidedly on them, for as often as the forward end of the train appeared at one end of the cut the Dolphin let drive a shot at it, and the train ran back. As often, too, as the rear end of the train left the other end of the cut it was met by another shot. For over two hours the game continued, the Dolphin firing at a diminutive fort nearby when neither end of the train offered a target. The dispatch boat's persistency was finally rewarded, and at half past 2 she steamed up to the flagship and reported, "We have disabled a train of troops and dismantled a blockhouse, sir," and went back to her blockading station.

It was two hours later that she again steamed up to the flagship and hailed her:

"May I have permission to shell the beach again? Spaniards are attempting to relieve the train I disabled."

There was a pause while a messenger sought the admiral and then the hail: "Dolphin there! Permission is granted," and off went the Dolphin.

She headed for the cut and fired one shot as she stopped her engines and swung broadside on to the beach. As though her shot had been a signal, two flashes answered from one of the Spanish batteries inside the harbor, and before the smoke had drifted away two shells dropped, one ahead and one astern of the Dolphin, neither more than 100 yards away. Then it was that the joke was on the Dolphin, and many a man in the fleet is ready to maintain that the vessel beat her trial speed record in resuming her station.

The incident gives a hint of Spanish fighting methods. The battery, though not in the direct line of fire during the morning bombardment, had evidently been deserted at that time, though several of the bombarding ships were within its range. It is the unexpected moves initiated by fear and cowardice and consummated with wile and treachery that are the greatest menace of the nation with which we are at war. If the recent bombardment had been followed up with occupation by the troops now expected here, it would have ended much of the fighting in this vicinity, and it is the impression of Santiago that the occupation of Cuba can only be accomplished by following up and maintaining every advance. One shot clears a path through a Spanish army, though it kills no man, but like a path through water it will be filled again unless maintained. —New York Sun.

COUNT CASSINI ON WAR.

Russian Minister Says It Teaches Men the Virtues of Patience and Sacrifice.

Tall, impressively a military man in his bearing, with a gray mustache and superb eyes, Count Cassini captivated attention at the Waldorf-Astoria. It was said of him there by a man whose criticism is always precise that he had too much politeness to affect the outward expression of it. Politeness was expressed in the count's eyes, kindly, quiet, affable. He said: "It would be very unfortunate if the affection which has always united America and Russia were not to be continued. I have always admired the United States and the day that I have spent in New York has been full of valuable impressions. I wish I could stay here longer."

He was asked if he liked war, and the question seemed to surprise him, but he said: "Imposed on empires through necessity, war is the great educator of humanity. It is through war that men are trained to all the virtues that elevate and sustain nations. It is through war that they learn patience, firmness, contempt for danger, seek glory and make sacrifice. The day when shepherds rolled rocks to form a wall behind which they defended their wives and their oxen the first human society was formed and the progress of arts was assured. But I am delivering a lecture." —New York Journal.

A GREEN VOLUNTEER.

He Was Exceptionally Verdant For One With a Commission.

Some of these volunteers are rather fresh when it comes to military etiquette. They are telling of a young lieutenant down in Tampa who was sitting by the door of General Wade's headquarters, talking to some officers of the regular army, when General Wade and his staff entered. The regular officers arose and saluted the general, but the volunteer lieutenant sat still.

Paris and Marseilles are connected by telegraph lines entirely underground. They are placed in iron pipes and buried four feet beneath the surface, with manholes 3,000 feet apart. It cost nearly $1,500,000 to bury the wires.

When North and South Unite.

One thing'd make this war wuth while 'f we had no other reason,
An ter yer Uncle Sam, I swaow, th' fac' is mighty plesin.
It's good ter free th' Cubans, it's good ter lick th' Spanish,
It's better for ter make th' hate 'twixt north an south ter vanish.

Thet thing is what this war hez done. By gosh, we're Yankees all!
An the reb an Yank alike respon ter th' martial bugle's call.
Ther' ain't no north, ther' ain't no south. We're brothers once ag'in,
An when th' north an south unite, by gosh, we're bound ter win!

Th' flag is cheered with vigor "from Atlanta to th' sea,"
An th' men who fought with Jackson are th' men who fought with Lee.
Vairmount an Son' Ca'l'ny, side by side they march along,
An th' good ole tune er "Dixie" is ter each a rattlin song.

An Georgy an Connecticut they share each others rations,
An thet one leetle fac' makes us th' happiest er nations.
Virginny an Noo Hampshire together man th' guns,
An every shot they shoot it hits, an every shot it stuns.

We're not much on bullfightin, but we know a bullseye well,
An each time thet we shoot a gun we "ring th' little bell."

The tradesmen wonder wher' th' dooce we "tradesmen" 'larned ter fight—
We teach th' world a heap er things when north an south unite.

THE FIRST DEFEAT.

A Chinese Servant Outwits General Merritt In His Hotel.

Major General Merritt, grim old warrior of a score of fields, head of the Manila army, military governor of the Philippines, has met his first defeat. He got it from a yellow, lantern-jawed, slant-eyed Chinese armed with a wash rag and a bucket of suds.

When the general entered the suit which had been provided at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, he found that important business awaited attention, says the San Francisco Call. He desired to discuss affairs of state. A Chinese servant was in the room washing windows. They did not particularly need washing, but the yellow fellow was there under orders, and he proposed to finish the job. The general asked him to take his suds and go.

The general argued, but it was useless. He scolded and harangued, but to no effect. Affairs of state might wait, but the Chinese was bent on cleaning the windows. He looked midway at the general and dipped anew into the suds. "Me no sabe" was all he said. The general, being a student of human nature as well as of the art of war, suspected that the intruder was lying.

"John," said he, with great solemnity, "don't you know I could have you shot?" "You no shootee me," replied John. "Go shootee Splaniard. Me Melican man's fiend. Me alle same stirs and stipes," and a fresh dash of suds struck the pane. The general was getting impatient. There was no use in diplomacy. "Git!" he yelled. "Vamoose! Clear out! You sabe 'clear out,' you heathen?" "Me no sabe 'clear out,'" answered John. "Me sabe Melican flag. Me sabe washee window."

The military governor of the Philippines was in despair. Just then a chambermaid passed the open door. "Say," said the general, "come in and induce this heathen to get out." The chambermaid came in, broom in hand. "See here," she remarked to John, "skip or I'll break this broom over your cocoonut." John picked up the bucket of suds and started for the hallway. As he reached the door he winked at the general. "Me no sabe much; me sabe war," he said, and went his way.

THE SHOOTING STAR LIGHT.

William A. Eddy's Experiment With a New Night War Signal.

William A. Eddy, the kite expert; Frederick M. Slater and Harold Ramage have experimented with a new night war signal called the "shooting star" light. Mr. Eddy raised two of the kites, each seven feet in diameter, to a height of 900 feet. After they were steady in the air he attached one end of the kite cable for a distance along the ground. To this cable was fastened a twopound lighted cellar lantern of five candle power.

When everything was ready, Mr. Eddy released the line on the ground and the kites immediately rose higher on getting the extra rope. The lantern shot straight upward into the air, held by a knot in the kite cable. When Mr. Slater gave a sharp side jar to the cable, the lantern was released and descended until within 20 feet of the earth, when it was run upon two spreading cables, to save it from being broken.

Mr. Eddy says that the "shooting star" signal can be seen at a much greater distance if the light is at a standstill and holds that by the use of variously colored lights communication could be carried on at night between different divisions of the army in places without telegraph and telephone facilities. —New York Herald.

CAN'T DENY IT.

When the Facts Are Brought Home to Us, and By Our Neighbors, Too—They Are East Liverpool Facts.

A wholesome suspicion is one of our characteristics as a people. In matters worthy of investigation we want real tangible facts regarding it. The word of those we know; the nearby evidence obtainable, are generally what we most desire. When we call on a neighbor, a man of business at that, and say: "You have had some experience with so-and-so; what do you think of it?" and he answers: "Just the thing, I know, because I have tried it." It goes a long way in helping our decision. This is always the case with Doan's Kidney Pills. Everybody who has used them for any kidney complaint will tell you, "They are just the thing." Why? Because they do the work every time and in all disordered conditions of the kidneys. The proof lies with your neighbors. Many have been cured in East Liverpool, and are ready to tell you or anyone enquiring.

The majority of our citizens know that Mr. Thos. Laughlin, of 172 Sophia street, has been unable to work at his calling, that of an engineer, for two years, that his condition was serious and that little hope was entertained of a return to his old-time health and strength. Read his own account of the change that took place through using Doan's Kidney Pills. He says: "I caught cold and neglected it. Result, it settled in my back and kidneys, forced me to quit work, and almost cost me my life. I could not move without suffering and often could neither sit, stand or lie for pain. The secretions of the kidneys went wrong and distressed and annoyed me both night and day. I took medicines for two years, but did not get well. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Noticing some improvement by the time I had taken the first one-half box I continued until I took four boxes, and my back was all right as well as the urinary trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills are without a doubt a grand remedy. I will endorse them at all times. I will substantiate my statement of Doan's Kidney Pills if anyone will call at my home to investigate for themselves. My wife had some backache also; she took Doan's Kidney Pills and was cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers for 50 cents per box. By mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name. Doan's, and take no other.

Archie Adams, the 13-year-old son of E. S. The Old Brigade.

The new brigades are mighty fine, the boys are brave and true, An the gray is marchin side by side with them that wore the blue, I see 'em on the hilltops; they're drillin in the glades, But we won't forget the old boys who made the old brigades.

We won't forget the fellers that fought on land an sea An follered "Stonewall" Jackson an charged with old Bob Lee; An Grant an Sherman's fellers, their memory never fades, We won't forget the old boys who made the old brigades.

They're thinnin out—the old boys—they're few now on the sod; They're crossin—crossin over to the campin grounds of God. I see the young boys marchin on hills an fields an glades, But we won't forget the old boys who made the old brigades. —Atlanta Constitution.

UNION PAPERS.
 All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above
 Union Label at the head of their columns.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

ALL the news is always in the NEWS
 REVIEW.

The skirmish before Santiago again showed the superiority of American troops.

Isn't it almost time for another deed of great daring on the part of some American sailor or soldier?

The flag raising in the Diamond on the Fourth will be an event in which all East Liverpool should enthusiastically take part.

The cheering news that Hobson and his men are safe serves to show that Cervera is not exactly like the ordinary Spaniard. He is keeping his word to the letter.

It is evident Spain has determined to give Admiral Dewey another chance to distinguish himself. Before Camara reaches Manila conditions will have changed, and he will not have the light
 Asiatic squadron to meet.

IN NEED OF AN ISSUE.

The Democrats have worn threadbare
 the troubles in the Republican party, but continue to push them forward as though they were really an issue of the campaign and should be handled with all the care usually bestowed upon a favorite Democratic principle. It is very tiresome and can never accomplish good. The policy simply binds the Republicans of the state closer together.
 It wins no votes for Democracy, but perhaps it is only done because Democracy
 is without an issue.

THAT CIVIL SERVICE CLAUSE.

The reference to civil service in the Republican platform does not necessarily mean that Ohio repudiates the great principle inaugurated and carefully watched through all these years. It simply means that the administration should bring it in reach of the original spirit of the law. Mr. Cleveland, knowing full well that his party could not long hold office in this country, twisted and contorted the law so it would provide for his personal and political friends. Republicans ask none of that,
 but they do ask a just and equitable construction of the principle, based upon the original idea on which civil service is founded.

SHOW IT.

If the Democrats are really in favor of allowing the soldiers in the field to vote they will not oppose the passage of a measure introduced for that purpose in congress. What this country wants just now is action and not words. It has had a great deal of the latter through all these years of peace, and we could say nothing in opposition because no opportune proof presented itself.
 Now we have the proof. If the leaders of Bryan's party are the patriots they claim they will join heartily in enacting
 a law that will give the soldier a vote
 whether he be at home or far away. It can be done in a very few minutes if the Democrats only decide they are not afraid of the result.

Captain Gyger Explains His
 Branch of the Army.

THE VOLUNTEER SIGNAL CORPS

Telegraph Operators, Electricians, Linemen, Draughtsmen and Topographers
 Make the Most Desirable Signalmen.
 Details of Enlistment.

Captain Geo. R. Gyger, formerly colonel of the Eighth infantry, but at present recruiting officer for the signal corps stationed at Columbus, wants men. The News Review received the following letter from the gentleman this morning:

A limited number of able bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45 years will be enlisted at this office for the United States Volunteer Signal corps. The term of enlistment will be two years.
 The proportion and monthly pay of enlisted men to each division of the army
 is as follows: Five first-class sergeants,
 $54; ten sergeants, $40.80; ten corporals,
 $24; thirty privates, $20.40; and in addition to the above pay, they are provided with clothing, subsistence, quarters and medical attendance. All who enlist must present a certificate of good moral character and correct habits.

Telegraphers will be required to furnish a certificate from a manager of the Western Union, Postal, or other well recognized telegraph organization, that he is a competent operator of high moral character, and of such standing that the manager or superintendent would be willing to employ him as an operator in his own office. A similar certificate will be required of electricians. Linemen, draughtsmen or topographers make desirable signalmen.

Each man must pass a strict physical examination. All enlistments will be made as privates and promotions to corporals and sergeants will be made from meritorious privates of the corps. Minors must have the written consent of their parents or guardians. Applicants must bear their own expenses until accepted
 and enlisted at this office.

Captain Gyger's office is located in the senate chamber in the capitol at Columbus.

THE ART POTTERY

Will Not Be Built on the Virginia
 Side.

The new art pottery will not be erected on the Virginia side and this evening John Lessel and his partner,
 Albert Bube, accompanied by John
 Weaver, kiln builder, will leave for Cincinnati, where they will erect a pottery.

Mr. Lessel was successful in forming a stock company here, but received better inducements from Cincinnati parties which he decided to accept. Another reason given for building the plant in Cincinnati is that it will give the goods
 a better market, as they are principally sold in large cities, and it would not pay
 as well to manufacture them here. Mr.
 Lessel will move his family to Cincinnati as soon as he gets located. He has made many friends during his residence in the city who will wish him success in his new venture.

NO WORK

Will Be Done by Union Clerks July Fourth.

The clerks' union held an interesting session last evening, and after several candidates had been initiated a resolution was introduced asking all business men to close their stores on the Fourth of July for the entire day. A committee was appointed to wait upon them. All union clerks were instructed not to work
 on that day.

After the business had been transacted
 a banquet was served. The proposition to combine with the grocery clerks' union
 was not submitted.

On the River.

All the rivers continue to fall, and from present indications the Ohio will soon be very low.

The marks at the Broadway wharf at noon today registered 4.6 feet, a fall of 10 inches since yesterday.

The Virginia and Lorena will be down
 tonight.

The Sunday boats—The Kanawha
 and Ben Hur will be up tomorrow, but
 the Keystone State is in doubt.

Low water will probably prohibit the State from coming up farther than Wheeling.

Professor Nowling has taken great pains in selecting his music for tomorrow's concert, and every lover of music should attend the Sunday concert at Rock Springs. Admission, 10c.

The Leaf Cutter Bee.

A writer in Knowledge describes the interesting operations of the bee called the "leaf cutter." This insect drills in a sand bank a hole 10 inches deep and half an inch in diameter and divides it into about a dozen compartments or cells. Each cell is composed of pieces of leaf, cut into proper shapes and carefully fitted together. Rose leaves and sweet pea leaves are among the favorites
 of the bees.

The cutting is done with the jaws,
 while the six legs hold the leaf in position and enable the insect to turn itself about with the precision of a pair of compasses. Some of the cut pieces are perfect circles. Others are oblong figures of varying proportions. Having cut out the segment of leaf, an operation requiring about 20 seconds, the bee carries it to the sand bank and then returns for more materials. When a piece has been nearly cut off, the bee, in order to prevent tearing, poises itself in the air with its wings and completes
 the operation with a clean cut.

THE BATTLE IS ON

Serious Fighting Around Santiago Town.

AMERICAN FORCES ADVANCING

Land and Naval Forces Are Engaged, and the Firing Has Been Incessant—A Report From the Battle Ground—Ten Known to Be Killed and 40 Wounded.

CAPE HAYTIE, June 25.—[Special]—A number of reports have reached here today that the most serious fighting to the present time of the war is going on around Santiago.

The Americans have steadily advanced since the skirmish yesterday, and at no place have they been driven back. Troop ships have landed reinforcements and they have been pushed rapidly forward. A number of officers and men have been wounded, but it is impossible to obtain names.

THE SQUADRON ENGAGED.

Washington Has Been Informed of the Battle.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—[Special]—A number of messages have been received at the army and navy departments today, but nothing is given out. It is reported this afternoon that the American land and naval forces are now attacking Santiago, and the heaviest bombardment since the fleet invested the city is in progress.

TEN MEN KILLED.

Forty Wounded in the Fight of Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—[Special]—Dispatches from the seat of war this afternoon place the American loss in yesterday's fight at 10. The wounded number 40.

Our troops have been steadily advancing, the Spanish fighting as they fall back. The last dispatch says we now occupy the enemy's position one mile and a half from Cavilla.

A CYCLONE

Caused Damage and Frightened People Near Alliance.

The information reached here this afternoon that a cyclone had swept the country near Alliance, doing a vast amount of damage.

All the wires of the Western Union company along the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road south of that place were down, and the extent of the damage could not be learned. It is not known whether there was loss of life.

LATER—Information received at a later hour says that a number of trees were uprooted, but houses were not blown down and no one was hurt.

RETURNED THE CHILD

After Making Careful and Exhaustive Investigation.

The case of child abuse exclusively published in the NEWS REVIEW the other day, came to an end yesterday afternoon, and Humane Agent Lloyd returned the child to its father.

He promised faithfully to see that the child was not abused in the future, and will be closely watched by the Humane society to see that he fulfills his promise. Should he fail to do so the child will be taken and placed in a good home, where it will receive the proper treatment.

TOWNSHIP LINE

Will Have a Big Picnic in the Grove as Usual.

The committee in charge of the Township Line picnic are already stirring and promise the people of that vicinity as good a time as ever.

Those who have charge of the speakers have not yet reported. They have in view a number of prominent men of the state who will be invited to speak. The gentlemen will soon have arrangements all completed.

THE STORM.

It Did No Particular Damage, but Caused Annoyance.

The storm which broke over the city a few minutes before noon did no particular damage, but caused considerable annoyance. Parties going from work to dinner were drenched, and others who had umbrellas fared little better.

A number of trees in different parts of the city were blown down, but no one was hurt.

MACKALL IN WOOSTER

He Will Be Taken There Today by Friends.

HE WAS BROUGHT TO TOWN

The Attorney's Friends Say He Talks as Well as Ever, Discussing Business Affairs Intelligently—He Had an Experience With James Gear.

A. R. Mackall was in the city today and showed no signs whatever of insanity. He looks well and is much the same as ever.

Yesterday afternoon J. M. Smith and Frank Stewart drove to the home of Joe Smith and endeavored to get Mr. Mackall to come to the city, but he refused. Later in the afternoon he started to the city with James Gear, and when they reached a point a short distance north of Riverview cemetery Mr. Mackall threw him over the dashboard of the buggy, and jumping out of the buggy ran into the woods and disappeared.

In the evening he appeared at the home of J. A. Wise, and staying a short time, again went to Joe Smith's, where he remained all night. This morning Moses Debee and Frank Stewart went to the residence and persuaded Mr. Mackall to come to the city and he was taken to the home of his father-in-law, J. M. Smith.

He was seen by friends and talked as rational as any person and showed no signs of insanity. He explained his actions of yesterday by stating that he was afraid the parties were going to overpower him. He discussed the war and many other matters, and expressed a desire to see his wife and children.

This afternoon, accompanied by friends, he left for Wooster, where he will visit his wife.

THE MOUNTFORD CASE

Was Dismissed This Week But Has Appeared Again.

LISBON, June 25.—[Special]—Yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Lillian Harris against the board of education of Unity township, decided in favor of the teacher. She had sued for $120 wages.

It was proved that the teacher was not examined in some of the higher branches until after she began teaching and that in the meantime she taught those branches. The board of education was unable to prove that they required her to teach the branches in person.

A marriage license was issued to John A. Searight and Maggie Roburn.

The case of Emily Mountford against Annie and Ethel Barrows having been dismissed the first of this week for lack of prosecution, another petition has been filed by the plaintiff. It is substantially the same as the old petition.

BENT NAILS

Placed in the Street to Ruin Bicycle Tires.

Last night as a well-known young man was riding his bicycle in West Market street, he ran into a crooked nail that had evidently been placed in the street for the purpose of ruining tires, and it answered its purpose. The tire on the rear wheel of the bicycle was completely ruined.

An effort will be made to catch the individual who placed the nail in the street, and if he is found he will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

OIL INSTEAD OF GAS.

The new well of the Alum Cliff company on the Warner farm came in last night at 10 o'clock, and showed a 10-pound pressure of gas. This morning the well had about 200 feet of oil in it, and it is estimated that it will flow about five barrels a day.

LEETONIA MAN CAUGHT

He Was Compelled to Answer in Police Court.

THERE WILL BE OTHERS SOON

Who Will Have to Settle With Mayor Bough For a Little Matter Not Down on the Bills—Other Cases Were Disposed of in Short Order Today.

Mayor Bough had a good amount of news to give out this morning, but he requested the newspaper men to say nothing about certain cases.

The most interesting case was that of J. C. Arlington, of Leetonia. He was arrested last night by Officer Whan, and after he was placed in jail he was charged with being in a house of ill repute.

Arlington was in a house on lower Broadway, and when Whan demanded admittance there was a hitch with the man who heard him. Whan, however, got in the place and captured Arlington, but the woman made her escape. This morning Arlington was fined $14.60 and released.

John Flanagan, who was arrested by Officer White yesterday afternoon, was fined $6.60 this morning for being drunk. He did not have the money to pay and he was sent back to jail.

Robert Donaldson was again arrested by Officer Whan in Seventh street last night and was taken to jail in the patrol. He was sleeping in a doorway when the officer saw him. He was released this morning.

The cases that were suppressed this morning will furnish some interesting reading when they are given out. What the nature of the charges are could not be learned, but it is safe to say that something out of the ordinary is promised.

When William Suckart, of Island Creek, was arrested by Officer White in East End Tuesday night the officer searched him, but found no money on his person. Mayor Bough told him so the following morning, and the old gentleman said he had been robbed of a pocketbook containing about $12. No one gave credence to the report at the time, but an investigation was made. Officer White was detailed, and a clue was found Thursday afternoon, and further work on the part of the officer caused him to request John Bradley and John Costello to call at the mayor's office this morning. The mayor questioned the boys closely with reference to the affair, but what he learned could not be secured for publication. Officers are still at work on the case.

Appointed Ensign.

A CONSIDERATE OFFICER. URGE A WAR OF CONQUEST.

Colonel Castleman Is the Best Loved Commander at Chickamauga.

The men of the First Kentucky regiment were more thoroughly drenched than any of the others, because of the fact that they had not all of their tents up and those that were up had not been ditched. Colonel Castleman refused to let his men work in the rain, even to ditch his tent. One of them, who persisted in not letting the gallant colonel wash away, was threatened with the dire punishment of being made to go without a handsome bottle of red eye which the colonel had saved up for him if he didn't get inside his tent and make an effort at least to keep dry. "It's a hard thing for the boys to do—this keeping dry," said the colonel solemnly. If he were the father of them all, the care Colonel Castleman manifests toward his men could not be more considerate. Among his men he is without doubt the most loved man of any commander in this army stationed at Chickamauga.

Colonel Castleman has decided that he will allow no regimental canteen. He does not believe they will do any good and only offer an opportunity for the boys to spend their little money. This is not the only Kentucky regiment here that is canteenless, Colonel Gaither of the Second having refused his men one, and the other regiments are wide eyed in wonder at this remarkable state of things existing in Kentucky regiments.—Chickamauga Letter to Nashville Banner.

To Preserve Health.

People should sleep on their right sides and avoid the habit of making plans when in bed. Eight hours should be spent in sleep. The window should be open all night, and the quantity of coverings should be regulated by a thermometer. The morning tub should be at the temperature of the body. Exercise should be taken before breakfast by those who are robust; those who are weakly should take a glass of milk and a biscuit before going out. The eating of fat should be cultivated, as it feeds the little cells, which destroy disease germs. Intoxicants destroy these cells. Animals are apt to carry disease germs; therefore, children should not be allowed to pet and fondle stray cats, dogs, etc. Three Ds should be particularly watched—drinking water, dampness and drains. If a child is threatened with a cold, strip his feet and fairly toast them before the fire for nearly half an hour, till they are thoroughly heated through. Then put him to bed and rub his chest with goose grease or vaselin until it glows, and have him drink a cup of very hot milk. Few colds will survive this treatment.

"Ah," Ritt sighed, "but on the stage of the Opera one ought always to be in evening dress."

"Yes, yes, no doubt, but—but—he is a tenor!"—Exchange.

Churches Are Petitioning to Proceed Against All Spanish Possessions.

The American churches are urging the president to proceed against all of Spanish possessions in the Pacific, including the Ladrones, the Carolines and the Pelew islands. The church sentiment is particularly anxious that the Carolines shall be brought under the American flag.

A cabinet officer is authority for the statement that the missionary organizations have represented to the people that some years ago they spent over $1,000,000 in the Caroline islands. The Spanish then drove them out and refused to allow them to continue their missionary work. They urge that now the islands should be taken by the United States, so that their work there can be resumed and religious freedom established.—Kansas City Times.

He Found the Firebug.

An Australian farmer who was recently burned out on a large scale, being certain that his grass had been feloniously ignited, offered £25 reward for the discovery of the perpetrator and employed trackers at great expense. After a cursory examination they decided that a woman had made the tracks, and when they had unearthed the shoe that made them it was found to belong to the farmer's 17-year-old daughter, who, when questioned, admitted that she had started the fire "because she loved to see the people excited and the water carts hurrying about." The farmer is now called upon to pay the £25 reward and another £25 expenses in connection with the trackers.

SPECHT IS NOT GUILTY

Of Disorderly Conduct Tuesday Night.

PROSECUTOR WILL PAY COSTS

Mayor Bough Gave Him Some Good Advice Regarding His Desire to Enter Court—A Few Words For the Defendant's Benefit.

The hearing of George Specht, charged with disorderly conduct on last Tuesday night by William Kell, took place in the mayor's office at 8 o'clock last night. When the hearing was announced a large number of spectators were present and the mayor's small office was almost filled. Kell was trembling like a leaf when he commenced to tell how it happened. He said that on the night in question Specht, at least he thought it was Specht, called him a vile name, and as he was not used to taking insults he thought he would have him arrested.

Several witnesses, who were with Specht, stated that no trouble was caused by Specht on that night, and they were positive that the young man was not guilty.

That was enough for the mayor, and, in reviewing the testimony, said:

"I find that I cannot find the young man guilty, and therefore I discharge him, and order you, Mr. Kell, to pay the costs, which amount to $4.00."

"Well," said Kell, "I know very little about law, and I want to know less. I will give you an order for $4.00 on my employer and the matter will then be dropped."

Specht saw a reporter after the trial and said: "Say, I want you to correct that statement you had in the paper today, as I came near losing my home by what you said."

SPORTING NEWS.

What Some of the Liverpool Players Are Doing.

Winnie Mercer yesterday pitched another good game and defeated the Cincinnati team by a score of 10 to 3. They made 11 hits from his delivery, but they were well scattered. His individual record was very good as he had one two bagger, a single, one stolen base, one putout, two assists and no errors.

Dick Padden played a splendid game with Pittsburgh yesterday, had one hit, six putouts and four assists without an error.

The Wellsville team this afternoon are playing the New Cumberland club at the fair grounds. A number of Liverpool players are assisting Wellsville.

George Carey is still playing a good game with Minneapolis, and will probably finish the season with them.

THE MASONIC PICNIC.

A Large Party Had a Very Pleasant Day.

The Masonic fraternity and their families spent yesterday and last evening delightfully. Dancing was among the principal amusements, Nowling's orchestra having been engaged to play until 11 o'clock at night, when the party were brought home in extra cars.

The occasion was St. John's day, and it is always observed by the Masons of this city.

Pawnee Bill.

Maj. Gordon Lillie, Pawnee Bill and his big Wild West combination gave two exhibitions on North Sixth street yesterday to two big audiences. While perhaps Pawnee Bill does not have as large a show as Buffalo Bill, he gives a performance unequalled by any in the country. This year many new features were added, and everybody seemed more than pleased. One of the most interesting features was the target shooting of Major Lillie while on horseback. In this he has not an equal on earth. The riding was exciting and daring. It was a perfect exhibition throughout.—Harrisburg, Pa., Call.

Hurry Up the Celebration.

The work of flooring the Jethro bridge was completed yesterday afternoon, and if there is any celebration to mark the opening of the bridge it had better be arranged very soon as nothing remains now to finish the bridge but the side rails.

Fourth of July Excursions.

July 2d, 3d and 4th excursion tickets, at one fare for the round trip, will be sold account 4th of July festivities via Pennsylvania lines; return coupons good until Tuesday, July 5th, inclusive.

Lesson For the Week Beginning June 26.
Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M.
Topic, Vacation Temptations.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Ruth i; ii; Acts xviii, 3.

The book of Ruth is an exquisitely beautiful picture of oriental life in ancient times. It is more than this—it is the picture of love and purity, of fidelity and obedience, which shows the true heart of woman in all times and places. The strong traits of the character of Ruth will repay study. Her conduct may well serve as an example for young people in these times.

This lesson is made the occasion to call to mind the approach of the vacation season and the temptations which will be met with during absence from home.

Some natures find the restraints of home and the daily routine of duty very influential in maintaining regular habits of devotion and shunning allurements to evil. To such persons the peculiar freedom of a vacation may be trying in the extreme and even hazardous to spiritual welfare. Invitations will be received to places and recreations which would not be for a moment considered at home, but which a sense of politeness makes one hesitate to decline when among comparative strangers. A sensitive and shrinking nature is peculiarly open to temptation of this kind.

It is wisest before leaving home to settle on some general rules of conduct and then refer all doubtful questions to be decided by these general principles without deviation. Then when the trial comes there will be no need to settle the course of action as a whole, but only to decide the nature of the case in hand. This will save many perplexities and prevent many useless regrets.

If one will always stop and ask, "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?" there will be little or no difficulty. Pleasures will be sweeter and peace more continuous. There is no time when one's character shows more transparently than when away from the accustomed restraints. Often traits come to the surface scarcely suspected by the person himself and never before clearly seen by others. Never does one need more to watch and pray than at such times. Great consequences may depend on seemingly insignificant actions. Joyous trustfulness in Christ and warm hearted alertness for His guidance will do much to keep from all harm.

The Bishop of Africa.

After an extended tour of his field Bishop Hartzell and his wife in the spring returned to the United States. He has visited and become thoroughly acquainted with the work in Liberia, on the Kongo, in Angola and then has taken the journey to the far eastern coast in the region of the Zambezi. Here we have in Inhambani a promising field which has for some years been under the charge of Dr. E. H. Richar's, our devoted missionary. Persons: ob-

BISHOP J. C. HARTZELL.

ervation has put the bishop in possession of the facts regarding our fields in the dark continent which the home church so much desires and needs to know.

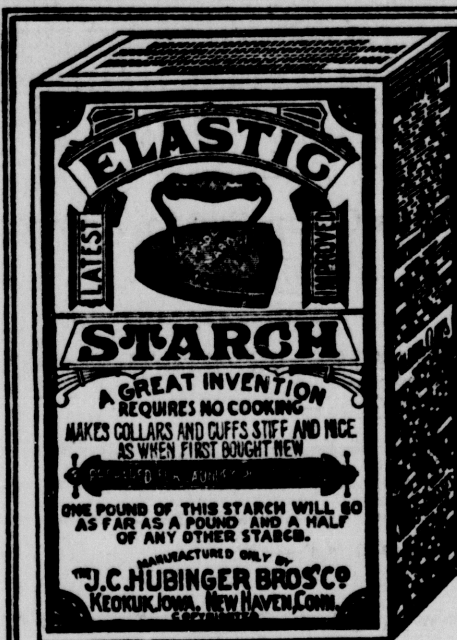

The previous work of Bishop Hartzell is well known to the church and many of the League. His African work will hold their attention and enlist their prayers and offerings.

It would be a profitable thing to spend an evening in the League on "Our Missions in Africa."

League Matters in Bermuda.

Bermuda Methodism is Wesleyan in type. The islands are under the rule of Great Britain. The Wesleyan Methodist ministers are members of the Nova Scotia conference of the Canadian Methodist church. There are nine churches in the islands, which form one district under a chairman. Chapters of the Epworth League have been formed in all the churches.

During the months of February and March General Secretary Rev. A. C. Crews of Toronto made a trip to the islands and gave an impetus to all the societies. He was abundant in labors. He preached, gave addresses and lectures and consulted with pastors, cabinets and private members. His strong, manly presence and earnest, soulful piety made a deep impression on the large

IT STILL LOOKS WELL

Trade Conditions Continue Pleasing.

NOVELTIES HAVE A BIG RUN

Dinner and Toilet Ware Have an Increased Call While the Dewey and Sampson Plates Are Sellers, and Promise Well For the Future.

China, Glass and Lamps takes a rosy view of the trade situation, and after looking over the ground during the week says:

"Dinner ware and hotel china, both in thin and heavy ware, has been enjoying an increased sale for several weeks past, and the demand for fine decorated goods has not been better for several years past than at present. The trade in heavy restaurant dinner ware has especially improved, and some of the elegant lighter dinner ware, in various shades of porcelain and semi-porcelain, especially the best decorated ware, is having a steady and growing trade, to an extent as has already stimulated potters to increased production, but has led them to put many new designs under way, and art pottery, of the better grade is certainly to be pushed along to a greater extent than ever. In toilet ware, medium and high grade goods are having a large run, and a very satisfactory trade is being done in these lines. Novelties and specialties are not only keeping pace with the so called more staple articles, but in many cases have taken the lead, and many potteries have branched out in these lines for the reason that there is a steady all year demand for this class of goods. Umbrella stands, jardinières, tabourettes, and many large single pieces whose ample surface specially fits them for hero portraits and battle ship representations, are the latest departure in American pottery, and some very excellent work in this class of goods has been put on the market, and have brought fair returns to manufacturers. The Dewey and Sampson plates that have been put on the market are proving sellers and bid fair to have a run of popularity extending over several months, and ephemeral as this class of goods may appear to be, just at present patriotic pottery certainly has the call, and souvenirs now are being much sought."

GOOD REPORTS

Will Be Made at the Brotherhood Convention.

The local correspondent of the Commoner and Glassworker says:

"The time for the convention is drawing to a close. The executive board are busy making all preparations for the event, and it will be an event in the history of the potting trade. The national officers are busy getting their reports ready, and from what I hear they will be the best ever presented to a convention of the potters. Secretary McKeone has sent out the credentials and everything is shaping up in good style."

TOPIC.—The right use of time.—Ecc. iii, 1-3; Acts xxiv, 24, 25.

"One of the most important things in life is the right use of time. Time properly used fits men for both time and eternity; time neglected or improperly used unfits them for both. Our temporal and eternal destinies depend upon our use of time. How important, then, that it should be rightly used!"

The topical references suggest some important reasons why time should be rightly used.

1. Time should be rightly used because God has appointed "to everything a season and a time to every purpose under the heaven." We can easily see that this is true in the physical world. God has a time for every season, a time for day, a time for night, a time for summer, a time for winter, and with unfailing regularity each season comes at God's appointed hour. God also has appointed times for the life of man. Every hour has its divinely appointed duty, and he who fails in the performance of it fails in his duty to God. Our greatest anxiety concerning time should be to learn what is the divinely appointed duty of the hour and then to perform it.

2. Time should be rightly used, because it passes swiftly by and never returns; if, therefore, the duty of the hour is not performed, the opportune time has gone forever. What confusion there would be in the physical world if the duties of the hour were not performed. What if day should extend into night or night prolong itself into the day, summer extend into winter or winter continue into summer? Confusion would be the result. How many human lives are thrown into absolute confusion from such a cause as this. The duties of one hour are neglected or postponed until another, and this is continued until so many duties crowd upon us that it is impossible for us to straighten out the confused affairs of our lives. There should be no procrastination in our lives. It is indeed the thief of time. The more important the duty of the hour, the more certainly it should be performed. There was a time in the life of Felix when under the vigorous preaching of Paul he was on the verge of decision for God and for righteousness, but he failed to seize his splendid opportunity, he put off decision till a more convenient season, with fatal results. The foolish virgins had a time for buying oil. They neglected it, and when they sought the opportunity again it was too late. Time is given us of God; let us use it aright for God.

As to how to use our time aright no better advice can be given than that of Richard Baxter: "Spend your time in nothing which you know must be repented of. Spend it in nothing on which you might not pray for the blessing of God. Spend it in nothing which you could not review with a quiet conscience on your dying bed. Spend it in nothing which you might not safely and properly be doing if death should surprise you in the act."

Bible Readings.—Ps. xxxix, 1; xc, 1-12; Ecc. xii, 1; Isa. lv, 6, 7; Math. v, 25; Luke xix, 41, 42; John ix, 4; xi, 9, 10; xii, 35, 36; Rom. xiii, 8-14; II Cor. vi, 2; Gal. vi, 9; Eph. v, 15, 16; Col. iv, 5, 6; Rev. x, 5, 6.

Music Worship.

Granting the need of reform, we are moved to explain that the first step must be a change of heart and a work of grace among ministers and church officers by which they will be enabled to understand that the first and the one vital requisite in a successful choir is not musical proficiency, but Christian character. Any other foundation is wood, hay and stubble. So long as church officers prefer of two candidates "the better player" or "the better singer," irrespective of religious considerations, so long will they have and deserve to have unmeasured trouble, for the curse of God rests on any such mockery.—Church Economist.

Ministry to the Soul.

Christ emphasizes ministry to the soul. He does not overlook physical ills, but makes their relief subordinate to the necessities of the spiritual nature. There seems to be a tendency in our day to reverse this order of service. Humanitarianism is exalted at the expense of Christ's gospel. There is too much attention given to a gospel for this life and too little to the gospel for the life to come. Let there not be less relieving of the sick, the suffering and the needy, but more instructing the ignorant, more rescuing the fallen, more comforting the dying and more helping men into heaven.—Presbyterian.

Transforming Power of Conversion.

A new creature in Christ Jesus—that is what conversion makes one. It changes the point of view from which everything is regarded. He who has been accustomed, more or less consciously, to consider primarily what he has supposed to be his own interests now learns to think first and chiefly of the divine interests. God and his relation and duty to God now are the most important subjects of his thought.—Congregationalist.

MARINES' SMALL ARM

PECULIARITIES OF THE GUN THAT MOWED DOWN THE SPANISH.

Its Power of Penetration—Has Point Blank Range of Between 600 and 700 Yards—Effective at 2,000 Yards—How It Compares With Spanish Mauser Rifles.

The gun the marines use has suddenly become an object of interest, in view of the deadly execution Colonel Huntington's men have been doing with it on the heights above Guantanamo bay. In the first brushes with the Spaniards, before the Americans had apparently caught the knack of the peculiar variety of bushwhacking in vogue in Cuba, there were complaints that the enemies' guns carried farther. Since the last engagements, however, there has been no more talk of the Mauser's superiority. In point of fact, the two arms—the Spanish Mauser and the Lee gun of the navy—seem to be pretty evenly matched, so far as shooting power is concerned.

The navy gun, known to the trade as the Lee straight pull rifle, is a magazine gun with a caliber of .236 inch. It uses smokeless powder with a hardened lead bullet, incased in a copper jacket plated with tin, having an initial velocity of 2,550 feet a second. The point blank range of the gun is between 600 and 700 yards. At the distance of 600 yards the bullet rises at the highest point in its trajectory but a trifle over five feet, thus making the entire range a zone of danger. At the distance of 1,000 yards the bullet rises at the highest point in its trajectory but 24 feet, while at a distance of five feet from the muzzle the bullet will penetrate 54 seven-eighths inch pine boards and a half inch steel plate. At 100 feet it will penetrate a seven-sixteenths inch steel plate. The gun has an effective range of 2,000 yards and over.

The arm can be used either as a repeater or as a single loader. Where it is used as a repeater five cartridges, attached at the base to a metal clip, are inserted in the magazine at a time. By this system it can be handled very rapidly, as but little time is taken up in opening the breech and inserting a clip of cartridges, when five shot are ready for instant firing. The entire five may be fired without taking the gun from the shoulder, and the piece can also be reloaded in the same position.

The gun can also be used as a single loader, while retaining five cartridges in the magazine for an emergency, by the simple expedient of placing a sixth cartridge under the extractor. This mode of firing can be continued indefinitely. The gun can be used with equal facility as a single loader, and may be operated in this way at great speed without even taking the gun from the shoulder. But the great superiority of the arm over other types of Colt guns, according to the experts, is in that the operation of opening and closing the breech is by a "straight pull," instead of the customary "up turn" and "back pull" of similar arms.

The entire length of the gun without the bayonet is 3 feet 11.6 inches; with the bayonet it is 4 feet 7.9 inches. The weight of the arm with the bayonet fixed is nine pounds seven ounces; without the bayonet the gun weighs eight pounds eight ounces. The loaded cartridge used in the gun is a shade over 3 1-10 inches in length, and 180 rounds in the metal clips is eight pounds six ounces. The cartridge belt adopted in the service is arranged with 12 little pockets, each containing three clips of five cartridges, and the total weight of the resulting 180 rounds, with the belt the marine carries them in, is 9 pounds 13 ounces. The bayonet with which the man is further armed is of the knife pattern, with a blade a trifle over 8 inches long and a shade over an inch in width.

The much talked of Mauser gun, with which the men who carry the Lee have been confronted in the recent battles, has a certain superficial resemblance to the American arm. It is about the same size, inserts its cartridges in clips of five and is of practically the same range. The cartridges for the two are practically identical, I was informed, and their effective range is similar. The most marked apparent difference between the two is that the Mauser, which is also a Colt gun, has the "up turn" "pull back" movement, which many object to, and consequently consider the Lee the superior all around arm.—New York Telegram.

Rear Admiral Dewey's Prophecy.

While in Leavenworth recently Justice Brewer of the federal court told of a prediction made by Admiral Dewey a year ago as he was about to start for China. Admiral Dewey was talking with a couple of supreme court justices when they consoled with him for being ordered so far away. Admiral Dewey replied: "You need not condole with me, gentlemen. The government will not stand this Cuban foolishness much longer, and we will all have something to do. I will come back again, but some fine morning I will take the Philippines before breakfast."—St. Louis Republic.

Broadly speaking, the essential difference between merchant ships and warships is that the former are designed to carry their loads or principal portions thereof low down in the hold, whereas warships have to carry their heavy burdens of armor and armament high up on their sides.

Trade Conditions Continue Pleasing.

NOVELTIES HAVE A BIG RUN

Dinner and Toilet Ware Have an Increased Call While the Dewey and Sampson Plates Are Sellers, and Promise Well for the Future.

China, Glass and Lamps takes a rosy view of the trade situation, and after looking over the ground during the week says:

"Dinner ware and hotel china, both in thin and heavy ware, has been enjoying an increased sale for several weeks past, and the demand for fine decorated goods has not been better for several years past than at present. The trade in heavy restaurant dinner ware has especially improved, and some of the elegant lighter dinner ware, in various shades of porcelain and semi-porcelain, especially the best decorated ware, is having a steady and growing trade, to an extent as has already stimulated potteries to increased production, but has led them to put many new designs under way, and art pottery, of the better grade is certainly to be pushed along to a greater extent than ever. In toilet ware, medium and high grade goods are having a large run, and a very satisfactory trade is being done in these lines. Novelties and specialties are not only keeping pace with the so called more staple articles, but in many cases have taken the lead, and many potteries have branched out in these lines for the reason that there is a steady all year demand for this class of goods. Umbrella stands, jardiniere, tabourettes, and many large single pieces whose ample surface specially fits them for hero portraits and battle ship representations, are the latest departure in American pottery, and some very excellent work in this class of goods has been put on the market, and have brought fair returns to manufacturers. The Dewey and Sampson plates that have been put on the market are proving sellers and bid fair to have a run of popularity extending over several months, and ephemeral as this class of goods may appear to be, just at present patriotic pottery certainly has the call, and souvenirs now are being much sought."

The local correspondent of the Commoner and Glassworker says:

"The time for the convention is drawing to a close. The executive board are busy making all preparations for the event, and it will be an event in the history of the potting trade. The national officers are busy getting their reports ready, and from what I hear they will be the best ever presented to a convention of the potters. Secretary McKeone has sent out the credentials and everything is shaping up in good style."

The point blank range of the gun is between 600 and 700 yards. At the distance of 600 yards the bullet rises at the highest point in its trajectory but a trifle over five feet, thus making the entire range a zone of danger. At the distance of 1,000 yards the bullet rises at the highest point in its trajectory but 24 feet, while at a distance of five feet from the muzzle the bullet will penetrate 54 seven-eighths inch pine boards and a half inch steel plate. At 100 feet it will penetrate a seven-sixteenths inch steel plate. The gun has an effective range of 2,000 yards and over.

The arm can be used either as a repeater or as a single loader. Where it is used as a repeater five cartridges, attached at the base to a metal clip, are inserted in the magazine at a time. By this system it can be handled very rapidly, as but little time is taken up in opening the breech and inserting a clip of cartridges, when five shot are ready for instant firing. The entire five may be fired without taking the gun from the shoulder, and the piece can also be reloaded in the same position.

The gun can also be used as a single loader, while retaining five cartridges in the magazine for an emergency, by the simple expedient of placing a sixth cartridge under the extractor. This mode of firing can be continued indefinitely. The gun can be used with equal facility as a single loader, and may be operated in this way at great speed without even taking the gun from the shoulder. But the great superiority of the arm over other types of Colt guns, according to the experts, is in that the operation of opening and closing the breech is by a "straight pull," instead of the customary "up turn" and "back pull" of similar arms.

The entire length of the gun without the bayonet is 3 feet 11.6 inches; with the bayonet it is 4 feet 7.9 inches. The weight of the arm with the bayonet fixed is nine pounds seven ounces; without the bayonet the gun weighs eight pounds eight ounces. The loaded cartridge used in the gun is a shade over 3 1-10 inches in length, and 180 rounds in the metal clips is eight pounds six ounces. The cartridge belt adopted in the service is arranged with 12 little pockets, each containing three clips of five cartridges, and the total weight of the resulting 180 rounds, with the belt the marine carries them in, is 9 pounds 13 ounces. The bayonet with which the man is further armed is of the knife pattern, with a blade a trifle over 8 inches long and a shade over an inch in width.

The much talked of Mauser gun, with which the men who carry the Lee have been confronted in the recent battles, has a certain superficial resemblance to the American arm. It is about the same size, inserts its cartridges in clips of five and is of practically the same range. The cartridges for the two are practically identical, I was informed, and their effective range is similar. The most marked apparent difference between the two is that the Mauser, which is also a Colt gun, has the "up turn" "pull back" movement, which many object to, and consequently consider the Lee the superior all around arm.—New York Telegram.

Rear Admiral Dewey's Prophecy.

While in Leavenworth recently Justice Brewer of the federal court told of a prediction made by Admiral Dewey a year ago as he was about to start for China. Admiral Dewey was talking with a couple of supreme court justices when they consoled with him for being ordered so far away. Admiral Dewey replied: "You need not console with me, gentlemen. The government will not stand this Cuban foolishness much longer, and we will all have something to do. I will come back again, but some fine morning I will take the Philippines before breakfast."—St. Louis Republic.

Broadly speaking, the essential difference between merchant ships and warships is that the former are designed to carry their loads or principal portions thereof low down in the hold, whereas warships have to carry their heavy burdens of armor and armament high up on their sides.

VIEWS OF A TRADER.

CAPTAIN LODGE COLTON ON THE INVASION OF CUBA.

He Claims Aguadores Is a Better Landing Place Than Guantanamo—Troops Must Cut Their Way Through Dense Underbrush—The Fever and the Life Winds.

After trading for a score of years to Cuba in large and swift vessels, Captain Lodge Colton of Philadelphia has offered his services to the navy department and has also offered to conduct free of cost any relief expedition which the citizens may send to aid the men in the field. It is quite natural that after his long service as a commander Captain Colton is as familiar with every harbor in Cuba as a ferryboat pilot is with Market street slip. His age alone prevented his going in the navy, but he has been of great service nevertheless, since he has furnished invaluable data to the board of strategy. Not only with the Cuban harbors is the captain familiar, but much of the mainland where the United States troops must operate is to him as an open book; hence his ideas on the invasion of the island are practical views founded on personal observation. Recently he said:

"First of all let me say that I sincerely hope the United States will never give Cuba up after it once is taken, and taken it will be, though not so easily as some people seem to imagine. I say, retain it because under American rule it would become the garden spot of the world. It may sound like a yarn, but I have seen a sugar cane measured at dusk in the evening and again the next morning at daybreak, and overnight it had grown fully six inches. I saw tomatoes fit to eat picked from a vine for which I had given the planter the seeds only 23 days before.

"With such a soil and climate the island must be one vast garden if properly cultivated. The landing of troops at Guantanamo or, in fact, many other places will not be attended with much risk. Santiago de Cuba proper, I think, has stronger external defenses than Havana, mainly because of the narrow passageway for ships. On all sides are batteries, and up in the narrow neck it would not need any aiming to hit the ships from a water battery.

"Guantanamo is 28 miles away, and the outer bay where the marines have landed is deep and ample for any naval force. The upper bay, approaching the landing and railroad that leads to the city proper, is shallow and treacherous. Between Santiago and Guantanamo is a better landing place. It is Aguadores, where the Spanish-American mines are located. Deep pockets and good wharfs will allow the biggest transports to lie safely at pier ends for the troops to disembark. This is 16 miles from Santiago.

"Landing troops in Cuba is one thing, but waging a successful battle or executing a successful movement is another. Everywhere the ground is covered with the densest kind of a growth of underbrush, a good mate for our common cat brier being the chief offender. These briars will cut the legs out of a pair of stout canvas overalls before you walk a mile, and as there is nothing but mule paths every inch of the ground must be cleared before the advance of the army. Mixed with this growth are all sorts of trees, with heavy tropical foliage, so that at 25 yards it is often impossible to see a person. I have hunted deer all around Cuba, and everywhere I found the same tangle of pitiless bush and brier.

"I may be charged with a desire to violate the highly polished rules of warfare, but if I had to move an army in Cuba it would move over a fire swept waste. The underbrush will burn, and if it is started right, with the wind astern of it, a good, healthy fire will clean the path to Santiago better than 10,000 machete men could do it in a week. The fire would serve a threefold purpose. It would clear the ground, destroy the mosquitoes and vermin and would also do away with the real yellow fever incubator of the country. The latter, everybody who has seen Cuba in the rainy season believes, is the vast matted and tangled growth which lies in all stages of flourish and decay on the ground.

"The rainy season will soon set in, and then the troops will see some rain for sure. For about an hour it generally seems as if the bottom has dropped out of the rainclouds, and pour is no name for it. It is a deluge and will wet right through canvas or gum. Then out comes the sun—always hotter than before—and for the next two hours the white fever mist rises like a fog from the decaying vegetation. This, the Cubans say, causes 'yellow jack,' and I do not doubt them. Guantanamo is a fairly healthy port, but in Santiago as well as in all the other seaports smallpox rages nearly all the time. There is an abundance of tropical fruit, yams and edible roots, but I fear our soldiers would not find it a very good fighting diet. The food supply must be nearly at an end, and that is why I think a relief expedition may be needed.

"To attack Havana the troops should land at Matanzas. It is a healthy port, and for the entire 48 miles to the capital they can march along the sea, all the time practically under cover of the guns of the fleet. Besides this Matanzas is not so far from any formidable extent and can be reduced by a couple of weeks. Matanzas, across the island from Havana, is not well adapted to harbor troops. It is unhealthy, and besides the harbor is shoal and foul. "Throughout the coast districts there is a full and fresh sea breeze, setting in to blow every day at about 11 o'clock in the morning. They call it the 'life giving wind,' and in its range, if the fifth of the cities is avoided, there is not so much danger of sickness. At night the wind blows off the land. Just now the ships should have good weather and smooth seas, but after July 15 they must look out for hurricanes."—Philadelphia Press.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Dun's Review Says the World's Markets Are Evidently at Our Command—The Failures.

NEW YORK, June 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part:

Very little of the new business seen in proportion to the aggregate, has been caused by the war. Neither has the collapse of the wheat speculation caused the expected decrease of shipments, for exports continue remarkably large. Gold comes, or does not come, as we want it, the world's markets being evidently at our command. An offering of bonds by the government brings out at the start bids for more than three times the amount offered, while the popular subscription already for three quarters of the amount exhibits in strong light the confidence of the people.

Wheat ceased to fall and begins to rise in price because foreign needs are not yet satisfied. The world's need of grain is greater than ever.

After falling to 80 cents for cash and 77½ for July wheat rose to 83 for cash and 79 for July, with foreign demand. Corn was steady without much fluctuation.

The industries, at the season when stoppages are to be expected, maintain production surprisingly. There are very few interruptions on account of labor, and wage scales for the coming year have nearly all been amicably settled. The iron industry is very dull at the east, with complaint that prices do not rise, but at Pittsburg and the west the works are getting more business constantly.

Wool is stronger a shade, 100 quotations by Coates Bros. averaging 18.72 cents, against 18.64 June 1, but because of western demands, which are relatively 4 cents above prices which manufacturers will pay, excepting to fill immediate orders. As the future of the trade is in doubt, though with more hopeful prospects, sales of wool have been in three weeks only 11,695,300 pounds at the three chief markets, against 29,585,100 in the same weeks last year and 23,728,200 in the same weeks of 1892.

"Failures for the week have been 285 in the United States, against 216 last year, and 11 in Canada, against 24 last year.

THE STRIKERS QUIET.

Presence of Militia Had a Good Effect at Oshkosh, Wis.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 25.—The presence of 400 militiamen has prevented further rioting by the striking woodworkers. Several of the factories were in operation yesterday with reduced forces under military protection. Some fear is entertained that the non-union men may be molested away from the mill district, and last night there was a cavalry patrol on the south side, where the workmen live.

The complete list of Thursday night's casualties, resulting from the riot at McMillan's mill, is as follows:

Dead—James Morris.
Injured—N. Blake, arm broken; O. N. Blake, Leroy Farr and F. Knope, cut about the head; John Pahle, badly injured; Peter Reeder, bruised; Peter Krueger, badly injured; — James, cut with stone; John Sues and Edward Casey, bruised; Charles Ross, struck with eggs and stones.

JENKS MAY BE THE MAN.

Believed Guffey Favors Him For Head of Pennsylvania Democratic Ticket.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—National Committeeman James M. Guffey returned yesterday morning from a short business trip east. The colonel declined to discuss the state campaign further than to say that the situation was unchanged. This is construed to mean that Mr. Guffey will not accept the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and that his personal choice for the place, Judge George A. Jenks, will be nominated.

CIRCUS TENT BLOWN DOWN.

A Panic Resulted and a Number of People Were Injured—One Killed.

SIoux CITY, Ia., June 25.—A severe windstorm struck this city last night, blowing down the main tent of the Sells-Foranpaugh circus while a performance was in progress. The collapse of the canvas caused a panic in which a score or more of people were injured. One of them, Adolph Halverson of Sioux City, died soon afterward of his injuries, while Frank Reynolds, an attaché of the show, is hurt internally and it is believed will die.

Clemmer Must Hang.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 25.—James A. Clemmer, charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Mrs. Emma P. Kaiser, was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree. Miss DeKalb some time ago pleaded guilty to the charge of being an accessory after the crime. The maximum punishment for this is two years. The woman's husband was recently convicted of first degree murder.

A BISHOP CONSECRATED.

Rev. Wm. Montgomery Brown Formally Became Coadjutor Bishop of Arkansas, at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—The consecration of the Rev. William Montgomery Brown, the archdeacon of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Ohio, as bishop coadjutor of Arkansas, took place at Trinity cathedral here yesterday. The edifice was crowded to the doors.

Bishops McLaren, Whitehead and Vincent acted as consecrators, Bishops Seymour and Leonard presenting the candidate. Bishop Atwell preached the consecration sermon. The Arkansas convocation was represented by the Very Rev. D. I. Hobbs of Little Rock and the Rev. F. W. Taylor of Springfield, Ill., acted as register. The services were marked by a solemn dignity that was very impressive.

Later a breakfast was given by the clergy of the diocese to Bishop Brown and the visiting bishops and clergy at which nearly 300 guests were present.

Chaplain's Funeral Sunday.

WOOSTER, O., June 25.—The remains of Chaplain I. N. Keiffer of the Eighth regiment, O. V. I., stationed at Camp Alger, reached this city at noon yesterday and were met at the depot by a large body of the chaplain's old comrades. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon and will be of a military character. Chaplain Keiffer served during the rebellion in the One Hundred and Twentieth and One Hundred and Sixty-ninth regiments, O. V. I.

Currency Reform Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The supporters of the currency reform bill, recently reported to the house by Mr. McCleary (Minn.), have decided not to urge consideration further at this session.

Weather Forecast.

Bankruptcy Bill Report Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The conference report on the bankruptcy bill was disposed of by the senate yesterday without debate. The report was agreed to by a vote of 43 to 13. The Hawaiian annexation resolutions were under discussion throughout the session, except during a brief time when routine business was disposed of.

The Pugh Law Sustained.

COLUMBUS, June 25.—The supreme court yesterday sustained the Pugh law, which says if a man petitions for a particular party ballot to be put on the ballot sheet he must vote the ticket of that party.

THE NEWS REVIEW

ALL the News in the News Review.

TO THE ADVERTISERS.

The Evening News Review has the largest bona fide PAID daily circulation of any paper published in East Liverpool, and the largest circulation in Wellsville of any daily paper published in East Liverpool. Keen witted and wide awake business men and advertisers will make note of these facts.

HARRY PALMER,
Owner and Manager.

TO BUSINESS MEN.

The combination prices of the NEWS REVIEW, advertisement in paper and bills from said advertisement, are cheaper than any other daily paper in the city, while the workmanship, material and inks made use of are incomparably superior to those of would-be competitors. Test the matter. We will prove the truth of our assertion.

Printed envelopes, either 6 or 8 in size, at the NEWS REVIEW, from 95 cents per thousand up, according to quality. We defy competition in workmanship or material.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Columbian club will give a dance next Thursday evening.

Harvey Tissot and family, of West End, will move Monday to Cleveland.

A car of soap weighing 40,000 pounds was unloaded in the lower yard yesterday.

Professor Rayman has returned to the city after a short stay in Columbus on business.

Walter Bower and family, of Steubenville, will move to the city in the near future.

E. M. Culley, a crockery buyer from Kendallville, Ind., is in the city today placing orders.

The street force are today cleaning the principal streets and putting them in first class shape.

The sewer in Church alley that was broken by the heavy rain last Sunday was temporarily repaired yesterday.

A number of wheelmen of the city will tomorrow take trips to neighboring cities if the roads are in good condition.

Holiness Ward will give another of his talks in the Diamond tomorrow evening. His subject will be "Jesus or Judas, Which?"

The train due in this city at 5 o'clock this morning did not come until 5:30. It was delayed at Alliance by heavy freight traffic.

Rev. C. F. Swift, who has been in Adrian, Mich., several days attending the commencement of Adrian college, returned home yesterday.

The ladies who conducted services on election day will hold a prayer meeting at the First M. E. church next Monday evening. All are invited.

Charles Stratton, of Empire, was in the city yesterday calling on friends. He is a brother of Walter B. Stratton, who is now in the Klondike region.

The executive committee of the Brotherhood and all local delegates will meet this evening at Brotherhood hall to make final arrangements for the picnic to be held July 4.

Travel on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road both east and west this morning was unusually light. Only a few people left on the early eastern train, and less than a dozen went west.

Reverend and Mrs. Salmon spent a portion of this week at the residence of the gentleman's father in Kilgore. While there Mrs. Salmon heard of the serious illness of her mother, and is now at her home in Toledo.

D. B. Lee, of Carroll county, is in the city buying wool. He was here about three weeks ago and made a big purchase, but this trip he expects to buy more than the last time.

The Junior Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church yesterday picnicked at Frederick's Grove and spent a very delightful day. The children were cared for by James Swaney and Mrs. Doctor Elliott.

Recently John Rinehart purchased a fast driving horse in the southern part of the state. Last night he took it to Columbian park, where it did half a mile in 1:16. Rinehart thinks it is an animal that is hard to beat.

When Baggage Agent Smith makes his report for June an increase over the corresponding month of last year will be seen. Business has been unusually heavy this month, and an unusual number of salesmen have made a Liverpool call.

James Baum has just returned from a trip to Washington and Camp Alger. He stated to Colonel Hill this morning that he saw Captain Hill Thursday, and that he was suffering with a bad cold and sore throat. He also said that aside from that the captain was in the best of health.

VIEWS OF A TRADER.

CAPTAIN LODGE COLTON ON THE INVASION OF CUBA.

He Claims Aguadores Is a Better Landing Place Than Guantanamo—Troops Must Cut Their Way Through Dense Underbrush—The Fever and the Life Winds.

After trading for a score of years to Cuba in large and swift vessels, Captain Lodge Colton of Philadelphia has offered his services to the navy department and has also offered to conduct free of cost any relief expedition which the citizens may send to aid the men in the field. It is quite natural that after his long service as a commander Captain Colton is as familiar with every harbor in Cuba as a ferryboat pilot is with Market street slip. His age alone prevented his going in the navy, but he has been of great service nevertheless, since he has furnished invaluable data to the board of strategy. Not only with the Cuban harbors is the captain familiar, but much of the mainland where the United States troops must operate is to him as an open book; hence his ideas on the invasion of the island are practical views founded on personal observation. Recently he said:

"First of all let me say that I sincerely hope the United States will never give Cuba up after it once is taken, and taken it will be, though not so easily as some people seem to imagine. I say, retain it because under American rule it would become the garden spot of the world. It may sound like a yarn, but I have seen a sugar cane measured at dusk in the evening and again the next morning at daybreak, and overnight it had grown fully six inches. I saw tomatoes fit to eat picked from a vine for which I had given the planter the seeds only 23 days before.

"With such a soil and climate the island must be one vast garden if properly cultivated. The landing of troops at Guantanamo or, in fact, many other places will not be attended with much risk. Santiago de Cuba proper, I think, has stronger external defenses than Havana, mainly because of the narrow passageway for ships. On all sides are batteries, and up in the narrow neck it would not need any aiming to hit the ships from a water battery.

"Guantanamo is 28 miles away, and the outer bay where the marines have landed is deep and ample for any naval force. The upper bay, approaching the landing and railroad that leads to the city proper, is shallow and treacherous. Between Santiago and Guantanamo is a better landing place. It is Aguadores, where the Spanish-American mines are located. Deep pockets and good wharfs will allow the biggest transports to lie safely at pier ends for the troops to disembark. This is 16 miles from Santiago.

"Landing troops in Cuba is one thing, but waging a successful battle or executing a successful movement is another. Everywhere the ground is covered with the densest kind of a growth of underbrush, a good mate for our common cat brier being the chief offender. These briers will cut the legs out of a pair of stout canvas overalls before you walk a mile, and as there is nothing but mule paths every inch of the ground must be cleared before the advance of the army. Mixed with this growth are all sorts of trees, with heavy tropical foliage, so that at 25 yards it is often impossible to see a person. I have hunted deer all around Cuba, and everywhere I found the same tangle of pitiless bush and brier.

"I may be charged with a desire to violate the highly polished rules of warfare, but if I had to move an army in Cuba it would move over a fire swept waste. The underbrush will burn, and if it is started right, with the wind astern of it, a good, healthy fire will clean the path to Santiago better than 10,000 machete men could do it in a week. The fire would serve a threefold purpose. It would clear the ground, destroy the mosquitoes and vermin and would also do away with the real yellow fever incubator of the country. The latter, everybody who has seen Cuba in the rainy season believes, is the vast matted and tangled growth which lies in all stages of flourish and decay on the ground.

"The rainy season will soon set in, and then the troops will see some rain for sure. For about an hour it generally seems as if the bottom has dropped out of the rainclouds, and pour is no name for it. It is a deluge and will wet right through canvas or gum. Then out comes the sun—always hotter than before—and for the next two hours the white fever mist rises like a fog from the decaying vegetation. This, the Cubans say, causes 'yellow jack,' and I do not doubt them. Guantanamo is a fairly healthy port, but in Santiago as well as in all the other seaports smallpox rages nearly all the time. There is an abundance of tropical fruit, yams and edible roots, but I fear our soldiers would not find it a very good fighting diet. The food supply must be nearly at an end, and that is why I think a relief expedition may be needed.

"To attack Havana the troops should land at Matanzas. It is a healthy port, and for the entire 48 miles to the capital they can march along the sea, all the time practically under cover of the guns of the fleet. Besides this Matanzas is not so formidable to any formidable extent and can easily be reduced by a couple of well equipped men, across the island. Havana, is not well adapted to land troops. It is unhealthy, and besides the harbor is shoal and foul. "Throughout the coast districts there is a full and fresh sea breeze, setting in to blow every day at about 11 o'clock in the morning. They call it the 'life giving wind,' and in its range, if the fifth of the cities is avoided, there is not so much danger of sickness. At night the wind blows off the land. Just now the ships should have good weather and smooth seas, but after July 15 they must look out for hurricanes."—Philadelphia Press.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Dun's Review Says the World's Markets Are Evidently at Our Command—The Failures.

NEW YORK, June 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part:

Very little of the new business seen, in proportion to the aggregate, has been caused by the war. Neither has the collapse of the wheat speculation caused the expected decrease of shipments. For exports continue remarkably large. Gold comes, or does not come, as we want it, the world's markets being evidently at our command. An offering of bonds by the government brings out at the start bids for more than three times the amount offered, while the popular subscription already for three quarters of the amount exhibits in strong light the confidence of the people.

Wheat ceased to fall and begins to rise in price because foreign needs are not yet satisfied. The world's need of grain is greater than ever.

After falling to 80 cents for cash and 77½ for July wheat rose to 83 for cash and 79 for July, with foreign demand. Corn was steady without much fluctuation.

The industries, at the season when stoppages are to be expected, maintain production surprisingly. There are very few interruptions on account of labor, and wage scales for the coming year have nearly all been amicably settled. The iron industry is very dull at the east, with complaint that prices do not rise, but at Pittsburgh and the west the works are getting more business constantly.

Wool is stronger a shade, 100 quotations by Coates Bros. averaging 18.72 cents, against 18.64 June 1, but because of western demands, which are relatively 4 cents above prices which manufacturers will pay, excepting to fill immediate orders. As the future of the trade is in doubt, though with more hopeful prospects, sales of wool have been in three weeks only 11,695,300 pounds at the three chief markets, against 29,585,100 in the same weeks last year and 23,728,200 in the same weeks of 1892.

"Failures for the week have been 285 in the United States, against 216 last year, and 11 in Canada, against 24 last year.

THE STRIKERS QUIET.

Presence of Militia Had a Good Effect at Oshkosh, Wis.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 25.—The presence of 400 militiamen has prevented further rioting by the striking woodworkers. Several of the factories were in operation yesterday with reduced forces under military protection. Some fear is entertained that the non-union men may be molested away from the mill district, and last night there was a cavalry patrol on the south side, where the workmen live.

The complete list of Thursday night's casualties, resulting from the riot at McMillan's mill, is as follows:

Dead—James Morris.
Injured—N. Blake, arm broken; O. N. Blake, Leroy Farr and F. Knope, cut about the head; John Pahle, badly injured; Peter Reefer, bruised; Peter Krueger, badly injured; — James, cut with stone; John Sues and Edward Casey, bruised; Charles Ross, struck with eggs and stones.

JENKS MAY BE THE MAN.

Believed Guffey Favors Him For Head of Pennsylvania Democratic Ticket.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—National Committeeman James M. Guffey returned yesterday morning from a short business trip east. The colonel declined to discuss the state campaign further than to say that the situation was unchanged.

This is construed to mean that Mr. Guffey will not accept the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and that his personal choice for the place, Judge George A. Jenks, will be nominated.

CIRCUS TENT BLOWN DOWN.

A Panic Resulted and a Number of People Were Injured—One Killed.

SIoux CITY, Ia., June 25.—A severe windstorm struck this city last night, blowing down the main tent of the Sells-Forrepaugh circus while a performance was in progress. The collapse of the canvas caused a panic in which a score or more of people were injured. One of them, Adolph Halverson of Sioux City, died soon afterward of his injuries, while Frank Reynolds, an attaché of the show, is hurt internally and it is believed will die.

Clemmer Must Hang.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 25.—James A. Clemmer, charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Mrs. Emma P. Kaiser, was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree. Miss DeKaib some time ago pleaded guilty to the charge of being an accessory after the crime. The maximum punishment for this is two years. The woman's husband was recently convicted of first degree murder.

A BISHOP CONSECRATED.

Rev. Wm. Montgomery Brown Formally Became Coadjutor Bishop of Arkansas, at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—The consecration of the Rev. William Montgomery Brown, the archdeacon of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Ohio, as bishop coadjutor of Arkansas, took place at Trinity cathedral here yesterday. The edifice was crowded to the doors.

Bishops McLaren, Whitehead and Vincent acted as consecrators, Bishops Seymour and Leonard presenting the candidate. Bishop Atwell preached the consecration sermon. The Arkansas convocation was represented by the Very Rev. D. I. Hobbs of Little Rock and the Rev. F. W. Taylor of Springfield, Ill., acted as registrar. The services were marked by a solemn dignity that was very impressive.

Later a breakfast was given by the clergy of the diocese to Bishop Brown and the visiting bishops and clergy at which nearly 300 guests were present.

Chaplain's Funeral Sunday.

WOOSTER, O., June 25.—The remains of Chaplain I. N. Keiffer of the Eighth regiment, O. V. I., stationed at Camp Alger, reached this city at noon yesterday and were met at the depot by a large body of the chaplain's old comrades. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon and will be of a military character. Chaplain Keiffer served during the rebellion in the One Hundred and Twentieth and One Hundred and Sixty-ninth regiments, O. V. I.

Currency Reform Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The supporters of the currency reform bill, recently reported to the house by Mr. McCleary (Minn.), have decided not to urge consideration further at this session.

Weather Forecast.

Bankruptcy Bill Report Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The conference report on the bankruptcy bill was disposed of by the senate yesterday without debate. The report was agreed to by a vote of 43 to 13. The Hawaiian annexation resolutions were under discussion throughout the session, except during a brief time when routine business was disposed of.

The Pugh Law Sustained.

COLUMBUS, June 25.—The supreme court yesterday sustained the Pugh law, which says if a man petitions for a particular party ballot to be put on the ballot sheet he must vote the ticket of that party.

BLOODY BATTLE IN CUBA

13 Americans Killed and 10 of the Wounded Will Likely Die of Their Injuries.

AT LEAST FIFTY WOUNDED.

ABOUT FORTY CUBANS KILLED.

Less Than a Thousand Regular and Rough Riders Dismounted and Attacked Two Thousand Spanish in the Brush. Drove Them Back From the Start, Stormed the Blockhouse Around Which They Made the Final Stand and Sent the Dons Scattering Over the Hills. The Enemy's Force Had the Advantage of Position and Numbers—The Fighting Occurred About Five Miles From Santiago—The Regulars Were Under Command of General Young and the Rough Riders Under Colonel Wood. Americans Hold a Position at the Threshold of Santiago—Troops Going Forward Toward the City.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT WANDA, OFF JURAGUA, June 24, via Playa del Este, Guantanamo bay, June 25.—This morning (Friday) four troops of the First cavalry, four troops of the Tenth cavalry and eight troops of Roosevelt's rough riders, less than 1,000 men in all, dismounted and attacked 2,000 Spanish soldiers in the thickets within five miles of Santiago de Cuba.

The Americans beat the enemy back into the city, but they left the following dead upon the field:

Rough riders—Captain Allyn K. Capron of Troop L, Sergeant Hamilton Fish, Jr., Privates Tilman and Dawson, both of Troop L, Private Dougherty of Troop A and Private W. T. Erwin of Troop F.

First cavalry—Private Dix, York, Bejork, Kolbe, Berlin and Lenmoch.

Tenth cavalry—Corporal White.

At least 50 Americans were wounded, including six officers. Several of the wounded will die.

Twelve dead Spaniards were found in the bushes after the fight, but their loss was doubtless far in excess of that.

General Young commanded the expedition and was with the regulars, while Colonel Wood directed the operations of the rough riders several miles west. Both parties struck the Spaniards about the same time and the fight lasted an hour.

The Spaniards opened fire from the thick brush and had every advantage of numbers and position, but the troops drove them back from the start, stormed the blockhouse around which they made the final stand and sent them scattering over the mountains.

The cavalrymen were afterward reinforced by the Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth infantry, part of the Ninth cavalry, the Second Massachusetts and the Seventy-first New York.

The Americans now hold the position at the threshold of Santiago de Cuba with more troops going forward constantly, and they are preparing for a final assault upon the city.

Captain McClintock, Troop B, shot through the right leg.

All the foregoing officers are rough riders.

Other officers wounded are: Captain Knox, whose condition is serious.

Major Bell.

Lieutenant Bryan.

These officers are of the First cavalry. The following are among the soldiers wounded:

Rough Riders.

Troop B—Privates E. M. Hill, Shelley F. Ishler, M. S. Newcomb, Fred N. Beale and Corporal J. D. Rhodes.

Troop E—Corporal James F. Bean, Privates Frank B. Booth, Albert C. Hartle, R. G. Bailey, H. Alvers, E. J. Atherton, Clifford Reed and Sergeant G. W. Arringo.

Troop G—Sergeant Thomas F. Cavanaugh, Corporal L. L. Stewart, Privates George Rowland, H. J. Haefner, Michael Coyle, R. M. Reid and M. Russell.

Troop L—Privates J. R. Kean, John

P. Dernap, Thomas F. Meagher, Edward Calborst and Nathaniel Poe. Troop B—Privates Russell, Gaines, Miller, Cross, Braxton and Wheeler. Troop I—Privates Ridd and Mayberry.

It is probable that at least ten in the list of wounded will die.

About 40 Cubans are reported killed. New York, June 25.—Hamilton Fish, Jr., one of the killed, was one of the young New Yorkers, of good position and family, who went to the front with Roosevelt's rough riders. He was of distinguished ancestry, his family being one of the oldest in this state. His father, Nicholas Fish, is the son of the late Hamilton Fish, who was secretary of state in Grant's cabinet. He is a banker and lives in this city. Hamilton Fish was over six feet tall, of herculean build, and rowed as No. 7 of the Columbia college crew in its winning race of 1894 over the Poughkeepsie course.

A FLAG RAISING.

Stars and Stripes Float From a Cuban Mountain Top—Shafter Very Aggressive—Advance of Troops.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT DAUNTLESS, OFF BAIQUIRI, June 23, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 25.—Late yesterday afternoon the American flag was flown from the top of Altares mountain, back of Baiquiri, amid wild enthusiasm. The men cheered and waved their hats, the warships and transports let loose their sirens and bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Major Lamotte, with two men of the volunteer cavalry, climbed the heights and raised the flag.

The Pan-American ironworks, which were destroyed before the troops landed yesterday, belonged to the Steelton company, near Baltimore.

The troops are in fine spirits and are overjoyed at the aggressive attitude assumed by General Shafter, who believes he can force his way into Santiago and strike the Spanish a heavy blow.

The celerity of the forward movement of the United States army has embarrassed the quartermaster's department. General Lawton sent back this afternoon an urgent request for more rations. The mules and stores are already ashore, but some of the trappings are still on board ship. They will be taken off during the night. Colonel Humphreys says he will have a pack train loaded and on its way by daylight tomorrow. It should reach Juraguá before night. An attempt to send supplies to Juraguá this afternoon in boats failed.

ON BOARD THE DISPATCH BOAT DAUNTLESS, off Juraguá, Province of Santiago de Cuba, June 23, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 25.—The advance of the American army has reached the edge of the table land in which the harbor of Santiago de Cuba lies. Here, seven miles from Morro castle, as the crow flies, the main body of the troops has united, and the Spaniards are in full retreat toward Santiago de Cuba. They may attempt a surprise, but a decisive engagement is not expected for several days.

General Lawton's brigade, which rested last night at Demejayabo, four miles west of Baiquiri, resumed its march at daylight. Before noon his brigade, consisting of the Twenty-second infantry, the First infantry, the Second Massachusetts volunteers, with companies of the Eighth cavalry, half of the Fourth cavalry and several companies of the Twenty-fifth colored cavalry, occupied Juraguá, five miles beyond, and the American flag was hoisted there.

The Spaniards retired before the advance, which was covered by Cuban skirmishers, burning the blockhouses as they went.

Colonel Wagner, with a small reconnaissance party of about 40 men, brushed against the flank of a retreating Spanish column, 200 strong, at Firmezas. A dozen shots were fired by the Spaniards as Colonel Wagner fell back. Before General Lawton could bring up the Twenty-second, the van regiment, the Spaniards had decamped westward.

Juraguá was abandoned by General Linares and 1,200 Spanish with such haste that they had no time to burn the town, though an ineffectual effort was made to destroy the locomotives of the railroad and the rolling stock. General Linares retreated to Seville, six miles west of Juraguá by road and nine miles from Santiago de Cuba.

A detachment of 170 Cubans, under Colonel Aguirre, collided with the Spanish rear guard. The Cubans lost two men killed and had seven men wounded. The Spanish loss is not known. One Spaniard was macheted.

General Chaffee, with the Ninth cavalry, the remainder of the Eighth and Fourth, Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth infantry, reached Juraguá at dark.

General Bates, with the reserve of the Twentieth infantry, and Colonel Wood's Rough Riders, dismounted, with a dynamite gun, hurried forward from Baiquiri at 3 o'clock, proceeding by forced marches.

When the couriers brought the news that Juraguá had been occupied the troop ships which had not disembarked their troops steamed to Juraguá with the view of landing them there. But the heavy sea beating on the beach made it impossible to get the boats through the surf.

A RAID ON SPAIN.

CAMARA ATTACK DEWEY.

If the Cadiz Fleet Goes Through the Suez Canal, It Will Be Sent.

DEWEY CAN TAKE CARE OF HIMSELF

Before the Spanish Ships Can Reach the Philippines, He Will Be Well Reinforced and Have the Shore Batteries With Him—The Administration Believes It Will Take Severe Measures to Bring the Spanish People to a Realization of the Hopelessness of Continuing the Present War.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—If Spain is foolhardy enough to send the Cadiz fleet through the Suez canal to attack Dewey in the Philippines, it is announced on good authority that before the last Spanish vessel has passed through the canal an American squadron will be steaming at full speed across the Atlantic straight for the coast of Spain to bring the war home to the Spanish people. There is no doubt that Dewey can take care of himself against this Cadiz fleet, since his own squadron will be reinforced by ironclads long before Camara's ships sight the bay of Manila, and he will have the shore batteries with him instead of against him in the struggle.

But it has been concluded by the administration that nothing save the most severe measures will suffice to bring the Spanish people to a realizing sense of the hopelessness of the continuance of the present war, and even kindness, it is held, will dictate such a blow as that it is proposed to administer if the Spanish persist in this last project. After the fall of Santiago and the capture or destruction of Cervera's squadron Sampson will have an abundance of vessels to spare for the task set for him. Probably he will constitute the attacking fleet in two squadrons, the first a flying squadron to be composed of the swiftest vessels of the fleet, such as the Columbia, Minneapolis, Harvard, Yale, St. Louis, St. Paul, New Orleans and such craft.

This will be followed under another command, either Sampson or Schley, by the battleships which Captain Clark's experience with the Oregon has shown can easily be counted on for the voyage across the Atlantic. With the Iowa, Oregon, Indiana, Massachusetts and Texas, all battleships, supplementing the New York and Brooklyn, armored cruisers, and the less powerful but speedy vessels of the flying squadron, the Spanish coast would be speedily swept clear of all commerce, all Spanish shipping would be destroyed and some of the best ports blockaded or bombarded.

WILL SUE FOR PEACE.

Spain to Have a New Cabinet—Cortes Dissolved Without Cheers For the Throne.

LONDON, June 29.—The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "When the cortes closed martial law was proclaimed. The Sagasta cabinet will resign and make way for a new government, which will open negotiations for peace."

The Madrid correspondent of The Financial News publishes this morning a report of an interview with an ex-member of the ministry, practically The Daily Telegraph's Madrid dispatch, and adding:

"Senor Gamazo will be the new premier, with Senor Salvador at the exchequer and possibly two Silvelists will join this cabinet, which will conclude peace and prepare the way for a Silvela cabinet. There is no doubt that Spain will lose all her colonies."

"Admiral Camara's squadron left Cadiz to calm public opinion. Camara well knows that before he arrives at the Philippines peace will be made."

Passed Camara's Squadron.

LONDON, June 25.—A special dispatch from Algiers says that the British steamer Hampton reports that she passed Admiral Camara's squadron, including 5 or 6 cruisers and about 12 transports Wednesday morning sailing at half speed to the eastward. The ships showed no colors. The cruisers were towing torpedo boats.

Boys on the Zealandia Send Cheering News by a Passing Ship—All Were Well.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—At 12 o'clock on the afternoon of the 20th, in latitude 28.53 N., longitude 144.35 W., the steamer Peru from the Orient via Honolulu sighted the transport steamers China, Senator, Colon and Zealandia. Signals were exchanged with all the vessels. "All well on board" was the message the flags fluttered to the liner.

The Zealandia, conveying the Pennsylvania troops, hove to and sent a boat off to the Peru. Pennsylvania's sons had messages to send to the United States. A quantity of mail from the troops was brought to San Francisco.

Cheer for the friends of those on the Zealandia is contained in the following message: "At Sea, June 20. Tell our people we have had a pleasant trip and all are well."

Arrangements Practically Completed For a Force to Sail Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Arrangements for the sailing of the next expedition of troops for Manila are practically complete, and every effort will be made to start on Monday, but the probability is that there will be some further delay.

The whole quota of troops, including those who are to go on the Newport with General Merritt on Wednesday, as well as those which have been assigned to the five transports scheduled to sail on Monday, number roughly 6,000 men.

BLOODHOUNDS PUT ON THE TRAIL.

As the Train Stopped at a Crossing, a Masked Man Climbed Over the Tender With a Leveled Revolver—Fireman Jumped From the Engine Just as the Fatal Shot Was Fired—Struck the Engineer, Taking Effect in His Side—The Victim Died Soon Afterward—Had Been on the Road Ten Years.

WHITE HALL, Ills., June 25.—Train No. 49, the northbound express on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, was delayed about one mile north of White Hall late last night by an attempted holdup and Engineer Fred Dempsey was shot and killed.

As the train stopped at the C. and A. crossing a masked man climbed over the tender with a leveled revolver. Fireman George Savage jumped from the engine just as the robber fired, the bullet taking effect in the engineer's side. The robber then sprang from the engine and fled. It is thought he had a confederate, but both took alarm at the shot and ran.

Engineer Dempsey was carried into the baggage car unconscious and died within 20 minutes. He lived at Beardstown, Ills., and had been on the Burlington road ten years.

Bloodhounds were immediately put on the trail of the murderer.

WINDING UP HIS WORK

Engineer McConnell Is Almost Done.

COMPANY HAS ALL FACTS

It Will Therefore Be Known In a Very Short Time Whether the Cumberland Branch Will Be Extended to a Point Opposite This Place This Summer.

Some day next week certain officials of the Pennsylvania company will be placed in possession of all the facts concerning the extension of the Cumberland branch, and it will not be long until the world will know whether the line is to be built.

Engineer McConnell, who has been cross-sectioning the line, looking after land lines and locating houses, will complete his work tonight. His report will be forwarded at once to Pittsburgh and when turned over to the proper officials and added to what has already been sent in will make an exhaustive report of what has been done. Only a few days will then be required to make the decision, and if it is favorable the contract will be let.

J. E. McDonald, who has been looking after the right of way, has several small contracts to be closed, but with that done his work will also be completed.

Those who should know declare the line will be built during this year.

NO EXTENSION

Until the Iron Mill in Wellsville Is Completed.

Superintendent Andrews, of the street railway company, stated this morning that no more tracks would be laid until the new iron mill in Wellsville is completed.

It is the intention of the company to extend the Wellsville end of the line about a mile, but when this work will commence could not be learned. Mr. Andrews stated nothing would be done in improving any other part of the line at present.

CAPTAIN HILL IS ILL.

He Is at Present Confined to His Quarters.

THE FIRE OF OUR SHIPS.

Some Incidents of the Bombardment at Santiago.

WATCHING EFFECT OF THE SHOTS.

Best Work Done at 2,200 to 2,800 Yards. Reasons Why the Targets Were Difficult to Hit—The Dolphin's Play With a Spanish Military Train—Belief That Cuba Can Be Effectively Occupied Only by Maintaining Every Advance Made.

The chief interest in the bombardment of the fortifications at the entrance to Santiago de Cuba harbor the other morning was in watching the landing of individual shots. The flagship New York was the best placed ship in the fleet for seeing those that struck along the bluffs to the east, and a majority of the most effective shots came from her own guns. The New York took her station nearer to the Morro than any other ship, and she was also to windward of all the other vessels except the Dolphin. With a very few exceptions the landing of every shot could be seen either from the bow or the stern of the ship, and the good marksmanship displayed was largely due to the timely hints given by those stationed there.

The first range used was 4,000 yards, but as the ship drifted inshore with the current this was reduced rapidly to 1,800. The most effective shots were at from 2,200 to 2,800 yards. At this distance there was opportunity for one to step to the extremity of the ship after a shot was fired and to catch a glimpse of the cliffs from under the canopy of smoke from the gun's discharge. The course of the whiffing shell was not apparent to the untrained eye, but its landing made a blotch on the landscape that was easily seen.

The targets were difficult ones. Nearly all the batteries of the Spaniards were situated a little back of the crest of the ridge, and with an inch too great elevation of the guns the shells sped on to the harbor and hills beyond, where their execution was problematical at best, although there was the comfort of knowing that there were batteries and ships in the general direction which they took. With an insufficient elevation of the guns the shells took effect on the rugged cliffs below the Spanish batteries. It was these shots that were most beautiful, though the damage they did the enemy was probably slight.

Some shells struck soft spots on the cliffs, and, exploding, sent a great mass of reddish earth and small stones skyward, the debris falling over the crest of the cliff or back into the sea below, while the white smoke floated away lazily above. Others struck point blank and burst into radiating, scintillating fragments, whose trails were thin lines of bluish smoke that looked like the ribs of an open fan. Occasionally one seemed to settle in a crevice, and after an angry spurt of smoke a huge boulder, blasted from its place, would slide and roll downward and plunge into the sea. One portion of the cliff seemed to be of harder material than the rest. From it the shells glanced and rebounded in every direction, sometimes in straight lines and sometimes in corkscrewlike spirals that gave one a very distinct impression of the terrible force of their impact. The most beautiful of these were those that returned directly upon the course over which they had come and those that shot straight upward and were lost from sight as the glowing metal, heated by that instant of incalculable friction, soared into the overhanging clouds. Accompanying the visual phenomena was an almost continuous roar as the detonations of discharge and explosion struck the ear in interminable reverberations from sea and sky and mountain side.

The shells that took effect on the edge of the cliff were different from those below. A quick eye could discern the guns thrown from their incasements, the houses torn from their foundations and the trees uprooted. Men could be seen running about, too, and it must have been that many of them were mangled in the concussions. It was after shots like these that the gunners on the flagship sighed with satisfaction and smiled the grim war smile that denotes pleasure in destruction done. The men on deck clap one another on the back and shout congratulations to the sweating gun crews. The gun captain, as his men swab out the smoking piece, rubs his bare arm across his forehead and asks, "What did that do?" A dozen answer his question with eyes still fixed on the cliff to note the next shot. The word is passed to the conning tower and the bridge; from the masthead, the quarter deck and the forecabin messenger boys come running with reports of another gun disabled, and the order goes back, "Send one more shot, same elevation, a little to the left."

The other afternoon the Dolphin figured in two jokes—war jokes, that require a certain disregard for danger to be fully appreciated. After the other ships retired from the bombardment the Dolphin remained at her station, firing desultorily at the beach. She was opposite a cut through which runs the little railroad that connects the iron mines to the east with the dock half way up Santiago harbor. In the cut was a train-load of Spanish troops, and the first joke was most decidedly on them, for as often as the forward end of the train appeared at one end of the cut the Dolphin let drive a shot at it, and the train ran back. As often, too, as the rear end of the train left the other end of the cut it was met by another shot. For over two hours the game continued, the Dolphin firing at a diminutive fort nearby when neither end of the train offered a target. The dispatch boat's persistency was finally rewarded, and at half past 2 she steamed up to the flagship and reported, "We have disabled a train of troops and dismantled a blockhouse, sir," and went back to her blockading station.

It was two hours later that she again steamed up to the flagship and hailed her:

"May I have permission to shell the beach again? Spaniards are attempting to relieve the train I disabled."

There was a pause while a messenger sought the admiral and then the hail: "Dolphin there! Permission is granted," and off went the Dolphin.

She headed for the cut and fired one shot as she stopped her engines and swung broadside on to the beach. As though her shot had been a signal, two flashes answered from one of the Spanish batteries inside the harbor, and before the smoke had drifted away two shells dropped, one ahead and one astern of the Dolphin, neither more than 100 yards away. Then it was that the joke was on the Dolphin, and many a man in the fleet is ready to maintain that the vessel beat her trial speed record in resuming her station.

The incident gives a hint of Spanish fighting methods. The battery, though not in the direct line of fire during the morning bombardment, had evidently been deserted at that time, though several of the bombardings ships were within its range. It is the unexpected moves initiated by fear and cowardice and consummated with wile and treachery that are the greatest menace of the nation with which we are at war. If the recent bombardment had been followed up with occupation by the troops now expected here, it would have ended much of the fighting in this vicinity, and it is the impression off Santiago that the occupation of Cuba can only be accomplished by following up and maintaining every advance. One shot clears a path through a Spanish army, though it kills no man, but like a path through water it will be filled again unless maintained.—New York Sun.

COUNT CASSINI ON WAR.

Russian Minister Says It Teaches Men the Virtues of Patience and Sacrifice.

Tall, impressively a military man in his bearing, with a gray mustache and superb eyes, Count Cassini captivated attention at the Waldorf-Astoria. It was said of him there by a man whose criticism is always precise that he had too much politeness to affect the outward expression of it. Politeness was expressed in the count's eyes, kindly, quiet, affable. He said: "It would be very unfortunate if the affection which has always united America and Russia were not to be continued. I have always admired the United States and the day that I have spent in New York has been full of valuable impressions. I wish I could stay here longer."

He was asked if he liked war, and the question seemed to surprise him, but he said: "Imposed on empires through necessity, war is the great educator of humanity. It is through war that men are trained to all the virtues that elevate and sustain nations. It is through war that they learn patience, firmness, contempt for danger, seek glory and make sacrifice. The day when shepherds rolled rocks to form a wall behind which they defended their wives and their oxen the first human society was formed and the progress of arts was assured. But I am delivering a lecture."—New York Journal.

A GREEN VOLUNTEER.

He Was Exceptionally Verdant For One With a Commission.

Some of these volunteers are rather fresh when it comes to military etiquette. They are telling of a young lieutenant down in Tampa who was sitting by the door of General Wade's headquarters, talking to some officers of the regular army, when General Wade and his staff entered. The regular officers arose and saluted the general, but the volunteer lieutenant sat still.

"That is General Wade, commander in chief," said one of the regulars. "Why don't you salute him?" "Oh, I have only been here a few days," replied the volunteer, "and have not yet been introduced."—Boston Herald.

THE FIRST DEFEAT.

A Chinese Servant Outwits General Merritt In His Hotel.

Major General Merritt, grim old warrior of a score of fields, head of the Manila army, military governor of the Philippines, has met his first defeat. He got it from a yellow, lantern jawed, slant eyed Chinese armed with a wash rag and a bucket of suds.

When the general entered the suit which had been provided at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, he found that important business awaited attention, says the San Francisco Call. He desired to discuss affairs of state. A Chinese servant was in the room washing windows. They did not particularly need washing, but the yellow fellow was there under orders, and he proposed to finish the job. The general asked him to take his suds and go.

"Me no sabee," replied the saffron son of toil, splashing more water on.

The general argued, but it was useless. He scolded and harangued, but to no effect. Affairs of state might wait, but the Chinese was bent on cleaning the windows. He looked midway at the general and dipped anew into the suds. "Me no sabee" was all he said. The general, being a student of human nature as well as of the art of war, suspected that the intruder was lying.

"John," said he, with great solemnity, "don't you know I could have you shot?" "You no shootee me," replied John. "Go shootee Splanard. Me Melican man's flend. Me alle same stars and stipes," and a fresh dash of suds struck the pane. The general was getting impatient. There was no use in diplomacy. "Git!" he yelled. "Vamoose! Clear out! You sabe 'clear out,' you heathen?" "Me no sabe 'clear out,'" answered John. "Me sabe Melican flag. Me sabe washee window."

The military governor of the Philippines was in despair. Just then a chambermaid passed the open door. "Say," said the general, "come in and induce this heathen to get out." The chambermaid came in, broom in hand. "See here," she remarked to John, "skip or I'll break this broom over your cocoonut." John picked up the bucket of suds and started for the hallway. As he reached the door he winked at the general. "Me no sabe much; me sabe war," he said, and went his way.

THE SHOOTING STAR LIGHT.

William A. Eddy's Experiment With a New Night War Signal.

William A. Eddy, the kite expert; Frederick M. Slater and Harold Ramage have experimented with a new night war signal called the "shooting star" light. Mr. Eddy raised two of the kites, each seven feet in diameter, to a height of 900 feet. After they were steady in the air he attached one end of the kite cable for a distance along the ground. To this cable was fastened a twopound lighted cellar lantern of five candle power.

When everything was ready, Mr. Eddy released the line on the ground and the kites immediately rose higher on getting the extra rope. The lantern shot straight upward into the air, held by a knot in the kite cable. When Mr. Slater gave a sharp side jar to the cable, the lantern was released and descended until within 20 feet of the earth, when it was run upon two spreading cables, to save it from being broken.

Mr. Eddy says that the "shooting star" signal can be seen at a much greater distance if the light is at a standstill and holds that by the use of variously colored lights communication could be carried on at night between different divisions of the army in places without telegraph and telephone facilities.—New York Herald.

CAN'T DENY IT.

When the Facts Are Brought Home to Us, and By Our Neighbors, Too—They Are East Liverpool Facts.

A wholesome suspicion is one of our characteristics as a people. In matters worthy of investigation we want real tangible facts regarding it. The word of those we know; the nearby evidence obtainable, are generally what we most desire. When we call on a neighbor, a man of business at that, and say: "You have had some experience with so-and-so; what do you think of it?" and he answers: "Just the thing, I know, because I have tried it." It goes a long way in helping our decision. This is always the case with Doan's Kidney Pills. Everybody who has used them for any kidney complaint will tell you, "They are just the thing." Why? Because they do the work every time and in all disordered conditions of the kidneys. The proof lies with your neighbors. Many have been cured in East Liverpool, and are ready to tell you or anyone enquiring.

The majority of our citizens know that Mr. Thos. Laughlin, of 172 Sophia street, has been unable to work at his calling, that of an engineer, for two years, that his condition was serious and that little hope was entertained of a return to his old-time health and strength. Read his own account of the change that took place through using Doan's Kidney Pills. He says: "I caught cold and neglected it. Result, it settled in my back and kidneys, forced me to quit work, and almost cost me my life. I could not move without suffering and often could neither sit, stand or lie for pain. The secretions of the kidneys went wrong and distressed and annoyed me both night and day. I took medicines for two years, but did not get well. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. Noticing some improvement by the time I had taken the first one-half box I continued until I took four boxes, and my back was all right as well as the urinary trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills are without a doubt a grand remedy. I will endorse them at all times. I will substantiate my statement of Doan's Kidney Pills if anyone will call at my home to investigate for themselves. My wife had some backache also; she took Doan's Kidney Pills and was cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers for 50 cents per box. By mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name. Doan's, and take no other.

Tommy—Should think I would.

WELLSVILLE.

PULLED FROM A WAGON

Archie Adams Suffered a Painful Accident.

SAVED THE BABY'S LIFE

An Operation on the Child Who Drank Ammonia—T. B. Dolan Had a Leg Taken Off at Industry—All the News of Wellsville.

Archie Adams, the 13-year-old son of E. S. Adams, was driving down Main street this morning when a bolt came out and the wagon was thrown so that the horse was frightened and dashed into a telephone pole at Eighth street. The youngster pluckily held to the lines, but the horse broke away and the boy was thrown to the pavement. His feet were cut, and it is feared he received internal injuries. He was taken home, where his injuries were dressed.

An Operation.

Doctor Parke and Doctor Tarr last night performed the operation of tracheotomy on the child of Mr. Marshall who a few days ago drank a quantity of ammonia.

The little one was in a precarious condition, and was in danger of dying from strangulation. Its life was saved for the present, but it is still in a precarious condition, and little hope is entertained for its recovery.

Caused a Sensation.

The announcement in the NEWS REVIEW last night that gambling was pronounced in Wellsville caused a sensation, and it can be safely said that the matter was much more discussed than cards were played.

This paper believes it to be the duty of every municipal administration to know what is going on within the territory under its jurisdiction, and to punish those who do wrong. Wellsville is awaiting his action.

Lost His Leg.

T. B. Dolan, the baseball player who became such a favorite with Wellsville people last season, will never play ball again.

He has been braking on the railroad, and was at Welsh's switch near Industry yesterday afternoon when he fell under the train and several cars passed over one of his legs, amputating it. He was taken to the West Penn hospital where he is being given every attention. It is believed he will recover.

We Lead,
Let Those Who Can Follow.

The Most Difficult.

Wonderful changes are taking place, and these often come suddenly. They show that we should not despair in any circumstances of the triumph of truth. That triumph is as certain as that the promises are true. All we have to do is to work, wait and suffer. The latter is a most difficult thing to do without complaint.—Christian Instructor.

The Old Brigade.

The new brigades are mighty fine, the boys are brave an true,
An the gray is marchin side by side with them that wore the blue.
I see 'em on the hilltops; they're drillin in the glades,
But we won't fergit the old boys who made the old brigades.

We won't fergit the fellers that fought on land an sea
An follered "Stonewall" Jackson an charged with old Bob Lee;
An Grant an Sherman's fellers, their memory never fades.
We won't fergit the old boys who made the old brigades.

They're thinnin out—the old boys—they're few now on the sod;
They're crossin—crossin over to the campin grounds of God.
I see the young boys marchin on hills an fields an glades,
But we won't fergit the old boys who made the old brigades.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

ALL the news is always in the NEWS
 REVIEW.

THE skirmish before Santiago again showed the superiority of American troops.

Isn't it almost time for another deed
 of great daring on the part of some American sailor or soldier?

THE flag raising in the Diamond on the Fourth will be an event in which all East Liverpool should enthusiastically
 take part.

THE cheering news that Hobson and
 his men are safe serves to show that Cervera is not exactly like the ordinary Spaniard. He is keeping his word to the letter.

It is evident Spain has determined to give Admiral Dewey another chance to distinguish himself. Before Camara reaches Manila conditions will have changed, and he will not have the light
 Asiatic squadron to meet.

IN NEED OF AN ISSUE.

The Democrats have worn threadbare
 the troubles in the Republican party,
 but continue to push them forward as though they were really an issue of the campaign and should be handled with all the care usually bestowed upon a favorite Democratic principle. It is very tiresome and can never accomplish
 good. The policy simply binds the Republicans of the state closer together.
 It wins no votes for Democracy, but perhaps it is only done because Democracy
 is without an issue.

THAT CIVIL SERVICE CLAUSE.

The reference to civil service in the Republican platform does not necessarily mean that Ohio repudiates the great principle inaugurated and carefully watched through all these years. It simply means that the administration should bring it in reach of the original spirit of the law. Mr. Cleveland, knowing full well that his party could not long hold office in this country, twisted
 and contorted the law so it would provide for his personal and political friends. Republicans ask none of that,
 but they do ask a just and equitable
 construction of the principle, based upon
 the original idea on which civil service
 is founded.

SHOW IT.

If the Democrats are really in favor of allowing the soldiers in the field to vote they will not oppose the passage of
 a measure introduced for that purpose
 in congress. What this country wants just now is action and not words. It has had a great deal of the latter through all these years of peace, and we could say nothing in opposition because no opportune proof presented itself.
 Now we have the proof. If the leaders of Bryan's party are the patriots they claim they will join heartily in enacting
 a law that will give the soldier a vote
 whether he be at home or far away. It can be done in a very few minutes if
 the Democrats only decide they are not afraid of the result.

MORE MEN ARE WANTED

Captain Gyger Explains His
 Branch of the Army.

THE VOLUNTEER SIGNAL CORPS

Telegraph Operators, Electricians, Lin-
 men, Draughtsmen and Topographers
 Make the Most Desirable Signalmen.
 Details of Enlistment.

Captain Geo. R. Gyger, formerly
 colonel of the Eighth infantry, but at present recruiting officer for the signal corps stationed at Columbus, wants
 men. The NEWS REVIEW received the following letter from the gentleman
 this morning:

A limited number of able bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45 years will be enlisted at this office for the United States Volunteer Signal corps. The term of enlistment will be two years.
 The proportion and monthly pay of enlisted men to each division of the army
 is as follows: Five first-class sergeants,
 $54; ten sergeants, $40.80; ten corporals,
 $24; thirty privates, $20.40; and in addition to the above pay, they are provided with clothing, subsistence, quarters and medical attendance. All who enlist must present a certificate of good moral character and correct habits.

Telegraphers will be required to furnish a certificate from a manager of the Western Union, Postal, or other well
 recognized telegraph organization, that he is a competent operator of high moral character, and of such standing that the manager or superintendent would be willing to employ him as an operator in his own office. A similar certificate will be required of electricians. Linemen, draughtsmen or topographers make desirable signalmen.

Each man must pass a strict physical examination. All enlistments will be made as privates and promotions to corporals and sergeants will be made from meritorious privates of the corps. Minors must have the written consent of their parents or guardians. Applicants must bear their own expenses until accepted
 and enlisted at this office.

Captain Gyger's office is located in the senate chamber in the capitol at Columbus.

 Side.

The new art pottery will not be erected on the Virginia side and this evening John Lessel and his partner,
 Albert Bube, accompanied by John
 Weaver, kiln builder, will leave for Cincinnati, where they will erect a pottery.

Mr. Lessel was successful in forming a stock company here, but received better inducements from Cincinnati parties
 which he decided to accept. Another reason given for building the plant in
 a better market, as they are principally
 sold in large cities, and it would not pay
 as well to manufacture them here. Mr.
 Lessel will move his family to Cincinnati as soon as he gets located. He has made many friends during his residence in the city who will wish him success in his new venture.

NO WORK

Will Be Done by Union Clerks July Fourth.

The clerks' union held an interesting session last evening, and after several candidates had been initiated a resolution was introduced asking all business men to close their stores on the Fourth of July for the entire day. A committee was appointed to wait upon them. All union clerks were instructed not to work
 on that day.

After the business had been transacted
 a banquet was served. The proposition to combine with the grocery clerks' union
 was not submitted.

On the River.

All the rivers continue to fall, and
 from present indications the Ohio will soon be very low.

The marks at the Broadway wharf at noon today registered 4.6 feet, a fall of 10 inches since yesterday.

The Virginia and Lorena will be down
 tonight.

The Sunday boats—The Kanawha
 and Ben Hur will be up tomorrow, but
 the Keystone State is in doubt.

Low water will probably prohibit the State from coming up farther than Wheeling.

Professor Nowling has taken great pains in selecting his music for tomorrow's concert, and every lover of music
 should attend the Sunday concert at Rock Springs. Admission, 10c.

The Leaf Cutter Bee.

A writer in Knowledge describes the interesting operations of the bee called the "leaf cutter." This insect drills in a sand bank a hole 10 inches deep and half an inch in diameter and divides it into about a dozen compartments or cells. Each cell is composed of pieces of leaf, cut into proper shapes and carefully fitted together. Rose leaves and sweet pea leaves are among the favorites
 of the bees.

The cutting is done with the jaws,
 while the six legs hold the leaf in position and enable the insect to turn itself about with the precision of a pair of compasses. Some of the cut pieces are perfect circles. Others are oblong figures of varying proportions. Having cut out
 the segment of leaf, an operation requiring about 20 seconds, the bee carries it to the sand bank and then returns for more materials. When a piece
 has been nearly cut off, the bee, in order to prevent tearing, poises itself in the air with its wings and completes
 the operation with a clean cut.

THE BATTLE IS ON

Serious Fighting Around Santiago Town.

AMERICAN FORCES ADVANCING

Land and Naval Forces Are Engaged, and the Firing Has Been Incessant—A Report From the Battle Ground—Ten Known to Be Killed and 40 Wounded.

CAPE HAYTIEN, June 25.—[Special]—A number of reports have reached here today that the most serious fighting to the present time of the war is going on around Santiago.

The Americans have steadily advanced since the skirmish yesterday, and at no place have they been driven back. Troop ships have landed reinforcements and they have been pushed rapidly forward. A number of officers and men have been wounded, but it is impossible to obtain names.

THE SQUADRON ENGAGED.

Washington Has Been Informed of the Battle.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—[Special]—A number of messages have been received at the army and navy departments today, but nothing is given out.

It is reported this afternoon that the American land and naval forces are now attacking Santiago, and the heaviest bombardment since the fleet invested the city is in progress.

TEN MEN KILLED.

Forty Wounded in the Fight of Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—[Special]—Dispatches from the seat of war this afternoon place the American loss in yesterday's fight at 10. The wounded number 40.

Our troops have been steadily advancing, the Spanish fighting as they fall back. The last dispatch says we now occupy the enemy's position one mile and a half from Cavilla.

A CYCLONE

Caused Damage and Frightened People Near Alliance.

The information reached here this afternoon that a cyclone had swept the country near Alliance, doing a vast amount of damage.

All the wires of the Western Union company along the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road south of that place were down, and the extent of the damage could not be learned. It is not known whether there was loss of life.

LATER—Information received at a later hour says that a number of trees were uprooted, but houses were not blown down and no one was hurt.

After Making Careful and Exhaustive Investigation.

The case of child abuse exclusively published in the NEWS REVIEW the other day, came to an end yesterday afternoon, and Humane Agent Lloyd returned the child to its father.

He promised faithfully to see that the child was not abused in the future, and will be closely watched by the Humane society to see that he fulfills his promise. Should he fail to do so the child will be taken and placed in a good home, where it will receive the proper treatment.

THE STORM.

It Did No Particular Damage, but Caused Annoyance.

The storm which broke over the city a few minutes before noon did no particular damage, but caused considerable annoyance. Parties going from work to dinner were drenched, and others who had umbrellas fared little better.

A number of trees in different parts of the city were blown down, but no one was hurt.

MACKALL IN WOOSTER

He Will Be Taken There Today by Friends.

HE WAS BROUGHT TO TOWN

The Attorney's Friends Say He Talks as Well as Ever, Discussing Business Affairs Intelligently—He Had an Experience With James Gear.

A. R. Mackall was in the city today and showed no signs whatever of insanity. He looks well and is much the same as ever.

Yesterday afternoon J. M. Smith and Frank Stewart drove to the home of Joe Smith and endeavored to get Mr. Mackall to come to the city, but he refused. Later in the afternoon he started to the city with James Gear, and when they reached a point a short distance north of Riverview cemetery Mr. Mackall threw him over the dashboard of the buggy, and jumping out of the buggy ran into the woods and disappeared.

In the evening he appeared at the home of J. A. Wise, and staying a short time, again went to Joe Smith's, where he remained all night. This morning Moses Debee and Frank Stewart went to the residence and persuaded Mr. Mackall to come to the city and he was taken to the home of his father-in-law, J. M. Smith.

He was seen by friends and talked as rational as any person and showed no signs of insanity. He explained his actions of yesterday by stating that he was afraid the parties were going to overpower him. He discussed the war and many other matters, and expressed a desire to see his wife and children.

This afternoon, accompanied by friends, he left for Wooster, where he will visit his wife.

Was Dismissed This Week But Has Appeared Again.

LISBON, June 25.—[Special]—Yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Lillian Harris against the board of education of Unity township, decided in favor of the teacher. She had sued for $120 wages.

It was proved that the teacher was not examined in some of the higher branches until after she began teaching and that in the meantime she taught those branches. The board of education were unable to prove that they required her to teach the branches in person.

A marriage license was issued to John A. Searight and Maggie Roburn.

The case of Emily Mountford against Annie and Ethel Barrows having been dismissed the first of this week for lack of prosecution, another petition has been filed by the plaintiff. It is substantially the same as the old petition.

BENT NAILS

Placed in the Street to Ruin Bicycle Tires.

Last night as a well-known young man was riding his bicycle in West Market street, he ran into a crooked nail that had evidently been placed in the street for the purpose of ruining tires, and it answered its purpose. The tire on the rear wheel of the bicycle was completely ruined.

An effort will be made to catch the individual who placed the nail in the street, and if he is found he will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Oil Instead of Gas.

The new well of the Alam Cliff company on the Warner farm came in last night at 10 o'clock, and showed a 10-pound pressure of gas. This morning the well had about 200 feet of oil in it, and it is estimated that it will flow about five barrels a day.

THERE WILL BE OTHERS SOON

Who Will Have to Settle With Mayor Bough For a Little Matter Not Down on the Bills—Other Cases Were Disposed of in Short Order Today.

Mayor Bough had a good amount of news to give out this morning, but he requested the newspaper men to say nothing about certain cases.

The most interesting case was that of J. C. Arlington, of Leetonia. He was arrested last night by Officer Whan, and after he was placed in jail he was charged with being in a house of ill repute.

Arlington was in a house on lower Broadway, and when Whan demanded admittance there was a hitch with the man who heard him. Whan, however, got in the place and captured Arlington, but the woman made her escape. This morning Arlington was fined $14.60 and released.

John Flanagan, who was arrested by Officer White yesterday afternoon, was fined $6.60 this morning for being drunk. He did not have the money to pay and he was sent back to jail.

Robert Donaldson was again arrested by Officer Whan in Seventh street last night and was taken to jail in the patrol. He was sleeping in a doorway when the officer saw him. He was released this morning.

The cases that were suppressed this morning will furnish some interesting reading when they are given out. What the nature of the charges are could not be learned, but it is safe to say that something out of the ordinary is promised.

When William Suckart, of Island Creek, was arrested by Officer White in East End Tuesday night the officer searched him, but found no money on his person. Mayor Bough told him so the following morning, and the old gentleman said he had been robbed of a pocketbook containing about $12. No one gave credence to the report at the time, but an investigation was made. Officer White was detailed, and a clue was found Thursday afternoon, and further work on the part of the officer caused him to request John Bradley and John Costello to call at the mayor's office this morning. The mayor questioned the boys closely with reference to the affair, but what he learned could not be secured for publication. Officers are still at work on the case.

A CONSIDERATE OFFICER.

Colonel Castleman Is the Best Loved Commander at Chickamauga.

The men of the First Kentucky regiment were more thoroughly drenched than any of the others, because of the fact that they had not all of their tents up and those that were up had not been ditched. Colonel Castleman refused to let his men work in the rain, even to ditch his tent. One of them, who persisted in not letting the gallant colonel wash away, was threatened with the dire punishment of being made to go without a handsome bottle of red eye which the colonel had saved up for him if he didn't get inside his tent and make an effort at least to keep dry. "It's a hard thing for the boys to do—this keeping dry," said the colonel solemnly. If he were the father of them all, the care Colonel Castleman manifests toward his men could not be more considerate. Among his men he is without doubt the most loved man of any commander in this army stationed at Chickamauga.

Colonel Castleman has decided that he will allow no regimental canteen. He does not believe they will do any good and only offer an opportunity for the boys to spend their little money. This is not the only Kentucky regiment here that is canteenless, Colonel Gaither of the Second having refused his men one, and the other regiments are wide eyed in wonder at this remarkable state of things existing in Kentucky regiments.—Chickamauga Letter to Nashville Banner.

To Preserve Health.

People should sleep on their right sides and avoid the habit of making plans when in bed. Eight hours should be spent in sleep. The window should be open all night, and the quantity of coverings should be regulated by a thermometer. The morning tub should be at the temperature of the body. Exercise should be taken before breakfast by those who are robust; those who are weakly should take a glass of milk and a biscuit before going out. The eating of fat should be cultivated, as it feeds the little cells, which destroy disease germs. Intoxicants destroy these cells. Animals are apt to carry disease germs; therefore, children should not be allowed to pet and fondle stray cats, dogs, etc. Three Ds should be particularly watched—drinking water, dampness and drains. If a child is threatened with a cold, strip his feet and fairly toast them before the fire for nearly half an hour, till they are thoroughly heated through. Then put him to bed and rub his chest with goose grease or vaselin until it glows, and have him drink a cup of very hot milk. Few colds will survive this treatment.

The Supreme Tenor.

Louis Gallet, a French musician, presented himself at the director's room at the Grand Opera in Paris one evening during the administration of Eugene Ritt. The latter was a great stickler for the dignity of the place and remarked as the visitor took off his topcoat that he was not in evening dress.

"Yes, my dear director," returned Gallet, "I am come just as I was. So very much pressed. However, I have not had to cross the theater."

"Ah," Ritt sighed, "but on the stage of the Opera one ought always to be in evening dress."

"Nevertheless," Gallet answered lightly, "I just now saw Jean de Reszke very stylish, no doubt, but in a frock coat—a frock coat!"

"Yes, yes, no doubt, but—but—he is a tenor!"—Exchange.

URGE A WAR OF CONQUEST.

Churches Are Petitioning to Proceed Against All Spanish Possessions.

The American churches are urging the president to proceed against all of Spanish possessions in the Pacific, including the Ladrones, the Carolines and the Pelew islands. The church sentiment is particularly anxious that the Carolines shall be brought under the American flag.

A cabinet officer is authority for the statement that the missionary organizations have represented to the people that some years ago they spent over $1,000,000 in the Caroline islands. The Spanish then drove them out and refused to allow them to continue their missionary work. They urge that now the islands should be taken by the United States, so that their work there can be resumed and religious freedom established.—Kansas City Times.

He Found the Firebug.

An Australian farmer who was recently burned out on a large scale, being certain that his grass had been feloniously ignited, offered £25 reward for the discovery of the perpetrator and employed trackers at great expense. After a cursory examination they decided that a woman had made the tracks, and when they had unearthed the shoe that made them it was found to belong to the farmer's 17-year-old daughter, who, when questioned, admitted that she had started the fire "because she loved to see the people excited and the water carts hurrying about." The farmer is now called upon to pay the £25 reward and another £25 expenses in connection with the trackers.

SPECHT IS NOT GUILTY

Of Disorderly Conduct Tuesday Night.

PROSECUTOR WILL PAY COSTS

Mayor Bough Gave Him Some Good Advice Regarding His Desire to Enter Court—A Few Words For the Defendant's Benefit.

The hearing of George Specht, charged with disorderly conduct on last Tuesday night by William Kell, took place in the mayor's office at 8 o'clock last night. When the hearing was announced a large number of spectators were present and the mayor's small office was almost filled. Kell was trembling like a leaf when he commenced to tell how it happened. He said that on the night in question Specht, at least he thought it was Specht, called him a vile name, and as he was not used to taking insults he thought he would have him arrested.

Several witnesses, who were with Specht, stated that no trouble was caused by Specht on that night, and they were positive that the young man was not guilty.

That was enough for the mayor, and, in reviewing the testimony, said:

"Well," said Kell, "I know very little about law, and I want to know less. I will give you an order for $4.60 on my employer and the matter will then be dropped."

Speck saw a reporter after the trial and said: "Say, I want you to correct that statement you had in the paper today, as I came near losing my home by what you said."

SPORTING NEWS.

What Some of the Liverpool Players Are Doing.

Winnie Mercer yesterday pitched another good game and defeated the Cincinnati team by a score of 10 to 3. They made 11 hits from his delivery, but they were well scattered. His individual record was very good as he had one two bagger, a single, one stolen base, one putout, two assists and no errors.

Dick Padden played a splendid game with Pittsburg yesterday, had one hit, six putouts and four assists without an error.

The Wellsville team this afternoon are playing the New Cumberland club at the fair grounds. A number of Liverpool players are assisting Wellsville.

George Carey is still playing a good game with Minneapolis, and will probably finish the season with them.

A Large Party Had a Very Pleasant Day.

The Masonic fraternity and their families spent yesterday and last evening delightfully. Dancing was among the principal amusements, Nowling's orchestra having been engaged to play until 11 o'clock at night, when the party were brought home in extra cars.

The occasion was St. John's day, and it is always observed by the Masons of this city.

Pawnee Bill.

Maj. Gordon Lillie, Pawnee Bill and his big Wild West combination gave two exhibitions on North Sixth street yesterday to two big audiences. While perhaps Pawnee Bill does not have as large a show as Buffalo Bill, he gives a performance unequalled by any in the country. This year many new features were added, and everybody seemed more than pleased. One of the most interesting features was the target shooting of Major Lillie while on horseback. In this he has not an equal on earth. The riding was exciting and daring. It was a perfect exhibition throughout.—Harrisburg, Pa., Call.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning June 26.
Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M.
Topic, Vacation Temptations.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Ruth 1; ii; Acts xviii, 3.

The book of Ruth is an exquisitely beautiful picture of oriental life in ancient times. It is more than this—it is the picture of love and purity, of fidelity and obedience, which shows the true heart of woman in all times and places. The strong traits of the character of Ruth will repay study. Her conduct may well serve as an example for young people in these times.

This lesson is made the occasion to call to mind the approach of the vacation season and the temptations which will be met with during absence from home.

Some natures find the restraints of home and the daily routine of duty very influential in maintaining regular habits of devotion and shunning allurements to evil. To such persons the peculiar freedom of a vacation may be trying in the extreme and even hazardous to spiritual welfare. Invitations will be received to places and recreations which would not be for a moment considered at home, but which a sense of politeness makes one hesitate to decline when among comparative strangers. A sensitive and shrinking nature is peculiarly open to temptation of this kind.

It is wisest before leaving home to settle on some general rules of conduct and then refer all doubtful questions to be decided by these general principles without deviation. Then when the trial comes there will be no need to settle the course of action as a whole, but only to decide the nature of the case in hand. This will save many perplexities and prevent many useless regrets.

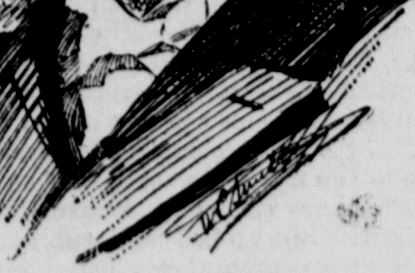

If one will always stop and ask, "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?" there will be little or no difficulty. Pleasures will be sweeter and peace more continuous. There is no time when one's character shows more transparently than when away from the accustomed restraints. Often traits come to the surface scarcely suspected by the person himself and never before clearly seen by others. Never does one need more to watch and pray than at such times. Great consequences may depend on seemingly insignificant actions. Joyous trustfulness in Christ and warm hearted alertness for His guidance will do much to keep from all harm.

The Bishop of Africa.

After an extended tour of his field Bishop Hartzell and his wife in the spring returned to the United States. He has visited and become thoroughly acquainted with the work in Liberia, on the Congo, in Angola and then has taken the journey to the far eastern coast in the region of the Zambezi. Here we have in Inhambani a promising field which has for some years been under the charge of Dr. E. H. Richards, our devoted missionary. Personal observation has put the bishop in possession of the facts regarding our fields in the dark continent which the home church so much desires and needs to know.

The previous work of Bishop Hartzell is well known to the church and many of the League. His African work will hold their attention and enlist their prayers and offerings.

It would be a profitable thing to spend an evening in the League on "Our Missions in Africa."

Bermuda Methodism is Wesleyan in type. The islands are under the rule of Great Britain. The Wesleyan Methodist ministers are members of the Nova Scotia conference of the Canadian Methodist church. There are nine churches in the islands, which form one district under a chairman. Chapters of the Epworth League have been formed in all the churches.

During the months of February and March General Secretary Rev. A. C. Crews of Toronto made a trip to the islands and gave an impetus to all the societies. He was abundant in labors. He preached, gave addresses and lectures and consulted with pastors, cabinets and private members. His strong, manly presence and earnest, soulful piety made a deep impression on the large

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card. Ask for it when making your purchases. Endorsed by the A. F. of L.

ONE-THIRD ACTUAL SIZE.

COLOR IS CHANGED EACH QUARTER. Good only during months named in lower left hand corner and when properly signed, and STAMPED with the number of the Local.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

CUSTOM TAILORS' LABEL.

The Journeymen Tailors' Label is to be found on the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeited, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

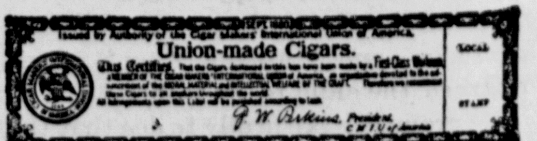

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold.

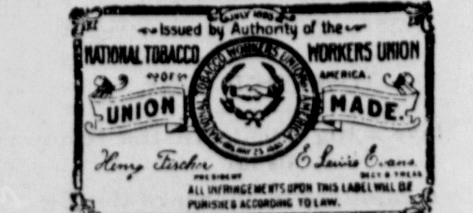

The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

BLUE LABEL CIGARS.

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box. Do not mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

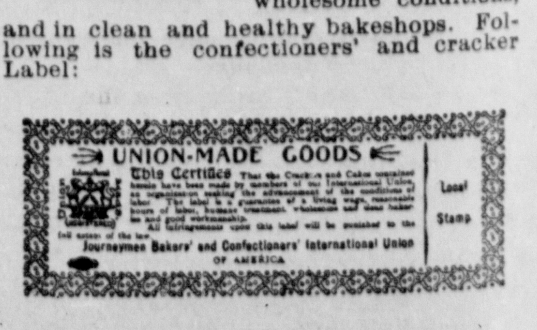

TOBACCO LABEL.

The above Label, printed on blue paper, will be found on all plug tobacco and on the wrappers of chewing tobacco manufactured in union tobacco factories.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

IT STILL LOOKS WELL

Trade Conditions Continue Pleasing.

NOVELTIES HAVE A BIG RUN

Dinner and Toilet Ware Have an Increased Call While the Dewey and Sampson Plates Are Sellers, and Promise Well For the Future.

China, Glass and Lamps takes a rosy view of the trade situation, and after looking over the ground during the week says:

"Dinner ware and hotel china, both in thin and heavy ware, has been enjoying an increased sale for several weeks past, and the demand for fine decorated goods has not been better for several years past than at present. The trade in heavy restaurant dinner ware has especially improved, and some of the elegant lighter dinner ware, in various shades of porcelain and semi-porcelain, especially the best decorated ware, is having a steady and growing trade, to an extent as has already stimulated potters to increased production, but has led them to put many new designs under way, and art pottery, of the better grade is certainly to be pushed along to a greater extent than ever. In toilet ware, medium and high grade goods are having a large run, and a very satisfactory trade is being done in these lines. Novelty and specialties are not only keeping pace with the so called more staple articles, but in many cases have taken the lead, and many potteries have branched out in these lines for the reason that there is a steady all year demand for this class of goods. Umbrella stands, jardinières, tabourettes, and many large single pieces whose ample surface specially fits them for hero portraits and battle ship representations, are the latest departure in American pottery, and some very excellent work in this class of goods has been put on the market, and have brought fair returns to manufacturers. The Dewey and Sampson plates that have been put on the market are proving sellers and bid fair to have a run of popularity extending over several months, and ephemeral as this class of goods may appear to be, just at present patriotic pottery certainly has the call, and souvenirs now are being much sought."

GOOD REPORTS

Will Be Made at the Brotherhood Convention.

The local correspondent of the Commoner and Glassworker says:

"The time for the convention is drawing to a close. The executive board are busy making all preparations for the event, and it will be an event in the history of the potting trade. The national officers are busy getting their reports ready, and from what I hear they will be the best ever presented to a convention of the potters. Secretary McKeone has sent out the credentials and everything is shaping up in good style."

Policemen Have Trouble.

Officers of the force have been occasioned much trouble because the locks and keys at the city jail are not numbered.

Occasionally an officer brings in a prisoner, and tries the lock on some cell only to find that he has the wrong key. Then he must go over his bunch and locate the key. When the prisoner is unruly the officer's lot is unenviable. The keys and locks may be numbered.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 26.

Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The right use of time.—Ecc. iii, 1-9; Acts xxiv, 24, 25.

One of the most important things in life is the right use of time. Time properly used fits men for both time and eternity; time neglected or improperly used unfits them for both. Our temporal and eternal destinies depend upon our use of time. How important, then, that it should be rightly used!

The topical references suggest some important reasons why time should be rightly used.

1. Time should be rightly used because God has appointed "to everything a season and a time to every purpose under the heaven." We can easily see that this is true in the physical world. God has a time for every season, a time for day, a time for night, a time for summer, a time for winter, and with unfailing regularity each season comes at God's appointed hour. God also has appointed times for the life of man. Every hour has its divinely appointed duty, and he who fails in the performance of it fails in his duty to God. Our greatest anxiety concerning time should be to learn what is the divinely appointed duty of the hour and then to perform it.

2. Time should be rightly used, because it passes swiftly by and never returns; if, therefore, the duty of the hour is not performed, the opportune time has gone forever. What confusion there would be in the physical world if the duties of the hour were not performed. What if day should extend into night or night prolong itself into the day, summer extend into winter or winter continue into summer? Confusion would be the result. How many human lives are thrown into absolute confusion from such a cause as this. The duties of one hour are neglected or postponed until another, and this is continued until so many duties crowd upon us that it is impossible for us to straighten out the confused affairs of our lives. There should be no procrastination in our lives. It is indeed the thief of time. The more important the duty of the hour, the more certainly it should be performed. There was a time in the life of Felix when under the vigorous preaching of Paul he was on the verge of decision for God and for righteousness, but he failed to seize his splendid opportunity, he put off decision till a more convenient season, with fatal results. The foolish virgins had a time for buying oil. They neglected it, and when they sought the opportunity again it was too late. Time is given us of God; let us use it aright for God.

As to how to use our time aright no better advice can be given than that of Richard Baxter: "Spend your time in nothing which you know must be repented of. Spend it in nothing on which you might not pray for the blessing of God. Spend it in nothing which you could not review with a quiet conscience on your dying bed. Spend it in nothing which you might not safely and properly be doing if death should surprise you in the act."

Music Worship.

Granting the need of reform, we are moved to explain that the first step must be a change of heart and a work of grace among ministers and church officers by which they will be enabled to understand that the first and the one vital requisite in a successful choir is not musical proficiency, but Christian character. Any other foundation is wood, hay and stubble. So long as church officers prefer of two candidates "the better player" or "the better singer," irrespective of religious considerations, so long will they have and deserve to have unmeasured trouble, for the curse of God rests on any such mockery.—Church Economist.

Ministry to the Soul.

Christ emphasizes ministry to the soul. He does not overlook physical ills, but makes their relief subordinate to the necessities of the spiritual nature. There seems to be a tendency in our day to reverse this order of service. Humanitarianism is exalted at the expense of Christ's gospel. There is too much attention given to a gospel for this life and too little to the gospel for the life to come. Let there not be less relieving of the sick, the suffering and the needy, but more instructing the ignorant, more rescuing the fallen, more comforting the dying and more helping men into heaven.—Presbyterian.

Transforming Power of Conversion.

A new creature in Christ Jesus—that is what conversion makes one. It changes the point of view from which everything is regarded. He who has been accustomed, more or less consciously, to consider primarily what he has supposed to be his own interests now learns to think first and chiefly of the divine interests. God and his relation and duty to God now are the most important subjects of his thought.—Congregationalist.

MARINES' SMALL ARM

Its Power of Penetration—Has Point Blank Range of Between 600 and 700 Yards—Effective at 2,000 Yards—How It Compares With Spanish Mauser Rifles.

The gun the marines use has suddenly become an object of interest, in view of the deadly execution Colonel Huntington's men have been doing with it on the heights above Guantanamo bay. In the first brushes with the Spaniards, before the Americans had apparently caught the knack of the peculiar variety of bushwhacking in vogue in Cuba, there were complaints that the enemies' guns carried farther. Since the last engagements, however, there has been no more talk of the Mauser's superiority. In point of fact, the two arms—the Spanish Mauser and the Lee gun of the navy—seem to be pretty evenly matched, so far as shooting power is concerned.

The navy gun, known to the trade as the Lee straight pull rifle, is a magazine gun with a caliber of .236 inch. It uses smokeless powder with a hardened lead bullet, incased in a copper jacket plated with tin, having an initial velocity of 2,550 feet a second. The point blank range of the gun is between 600 and 700 yards. At the distance of 600 yards the bullet rises at the highest point in its trajectory but a trifle over five feet, thus making the entire range a zone of danger. At the distance of 1,000 yards the bullet rises at the highest point in its trajectory but 24 feet, while at a distance of five feet from the muzzle the bullet will penetrate 54 seven-eighths inch pine boards and a half inch steel plate. At 100 feet it will penetrate a seven-sixteenths inch steel plate. The gun has an effective range of 2,000 yards and over.

The arm can be used either as a repeater or as a single loader. Where it is used as a repeater five cartridges, attached at the base to a metal clip, are inserted in the magazine at a time. By this system it can be handled very rapidly, as but little time is taken up in opening the breech and inserting a clip of cartridges, when five shot are ready for instant firing. The entire five may be fired without taking the gun from the shoulder, and the piece can also be reloaded in the same position.

The gun can also be used as a single loader, while retaining five cartridges in the magazine for an emergency, by the simple expedient of placing a sixth cartridge under the extractor. This mode of firing can be continued indefinitely. The gun can be used with equal facility as a single loader, and may be operated in this way at great speed without even taking the gun from the shoulder. But the great superiority of the arm over other types of Colt guns, according to the experts, is in that the operation of opening and closing the breech is by a "straight pull," instead of the customary "up turn" and "back pull" of similar arms.

The entire length of the gun without the bayonet is 3 feet 11.6 inches; with the bayonet it is 4 feet 7.9 inches. The weight of the arm with the bayonet fixed is nine pounds seven ounces; without the bayonet the gun weighs eight pounds eight ounces. The loaded cartridge used in the gun is a shade over 3 1-10 inches in length, and 180 rounds in the metal clips is eight pounds six ounces. The cartridge belt adopted in the service is arranged with 12 little pockets, each containing three clips of five cartridges, and the total weight of the resulting 180 rounds, with the belt the marine carries them in, is 9 pounds 13 ounces. The bayonet with which the man is further armed is of the knife pattern, with a blade a trifle over 8 inches long and a shade over an inch in width.

The much talked of Mauser gun, with which the men who carry the Lee have been confronted in the recent battles, has a certain superficial resemblance to the American arm. It is about the same size, inserts its cartridges in clips of five and is of practically the same range. The cartridges for the two are practically identical, I was informed, and their effective range is similar. The most marked apparent difference between the two is that the Mauser, which is also a Colt gun, has the "up turn" "pull back" movement, which many object to, and consequently consider the Lee the superior all around arm.—New York Telegram.

Rear Admiral Dewey's Prophecy.

While in Leavenworth recently Justice Brewer of the federal court told of a prediction made by Admiral Dewey a year ago as he was about to start for China. Admiral Dewey was talking with a couple of supreme court justices when they condescended with him for being ordered so far away. Admiral Dewey replied: "You need not console with me, gentlemen. The government will not stand this Cuban foolishness much longer, and we will all have something to do. I will come back again, but some fine morning I will take the Philippines before breakfast."—St. Louis Republic.

Broadly speaking, the essential difference between merchant ships and warships is that the former are designed to carry their loads or principal portions thereof low down in the hold, whereas warships have to carry their heavy burdens of armor and armament high up on their sides.

VIEWS OF A TRADER.

CAPTAIN LODGE COLTON ON THE INVASION OF CUBA.

He Claims Aguadores Is a Better Landing Place Than Guantanamo—Troops Must Cut Their Way Through Dense Underbrush—The Fever and the Life Winds.

After trading for a score of years to Cuba in large and swift vessels, Captain Lodge Colton of Philadelphia has offered his services to the navy department and has also offered to conduct free of cost any relief expedition which the citizens may send to aid the men in the field. It is quite natural that after his long service as a commander Captain Colton is as familiar with every harbor in Cuba as a ferryboat pilot is with Market street slip. His age alone prevented his going in the navy, but he has been of great service nevertheless, since he has furnished invaluable data to the board of strategy. Not only with the Cuban harbors is the captain familiar, but much of the mainland where the United States troops must operate is to him as an open book; hence his ideas on the invasion of the island are practical views founded on personal observation. Recently he said:

"First of all let me say that I sincerely hope the United States will never give Cuba up after it once is taken, and taken it will be, though not so easily as some people seem to imagine. I say, retain it because under American rule it would become the garden spot of the world. It may sound like a yarn, but I have seen a sugar cane measured at dusk in the evening and again the next morning at daybreak, and overnight it had grown fully six inches. I saw tomatoes fit to eat picked from a vine for which I had given the planter the seeds only 23 days before.

"With such a soil and climate the island must be one vast garden if properly cultivated. The landing of troops at Guantanamo or, in fact, many other places will not be attended with much risk. Santiago de Cuba proper, I think, has stronger external defenses than Havana, mainly because of the narrow passageway for ships. On all sides are batteries, and up in the narrow neck it would not need any aiming to hit the ships from a water battery.

"Guantanamo is 28 miles away, and the outer bay where the marines have landed is deep and ample for any naval force. The upper bay, approaching the landing and railroad that leads to the city proper, is shallow and treacherous. Between Santiago and Guantanamo is a better landing place. It is Aguadores, where the Spanish-American mines are located. Deep pockets and good wharfs will allow the biggest transports to lie safely at pier ends for the troops to disembark. This is 16 miles from Santiago.

"Landing troops in Cuba is one thing, but waging a successful battle or executing a successful movement is another. Everywhere the ground is covered with the densest kind of a growth of underbrush, a good mate for our common cat brier being the chief offender. These briars will cut the legs out of a pair of stout canvas overalls before you walk a mile, and as there is nothing but mule paths every inch of the ground must be cleared before the advance of the army. Mixed with this growth are all sorts of trees, with heavy tropical foliage, so that at 25 yards it is often impossible to see a person. I have hunted deer all around Cuba, and everywhere I found the same tangle of pitiless bush and brier.

"I may be charged with a desire to violate the highly polished rules of warfare, but if I had to move an army in Cuba it would move over a fire swept waste. The underbrush will burn, and if it is started right, with the wind astern of it, a good, healthy fire will clean the path to Santiago better than 10,000 machete men could do it in a week. The fire would serve a threefold purpose. It would clear the ground, destroy the mosquitoes and vermin and would also do away with the real yellow fever incubator of the country. The latter, everybody who has seen Cuba in the rainy season believes, is the vast matted and tangled growth which lies in all stages of flourish and decay on the ground.

"The rainy season will soon set in, and then the troops will see some rain for sure. For about an hour it generally seems as if the bottom has dropped out of the rainclouds, and pour is no name for it. It is a deluge and will wet right through canvas or gum. Then out comes the sun—always hotter than before—and for the next two hours the white fever mist rises like a fog from the decaying vegetation. This, the Cubans say, causes 'yellow jack,' and I do not doubt them. Guantanamo is a fairly healthy port, but in Santiago as well as in all the other seaports smallpox rages nearly all the time. There is an abundance of tropical fruit, yams and edible roots, but I fear our soldiers would not find it a very good fighting diet. The food supply must be nearly at an end, and that is why I think a relief expedition may be needed.

"To attack Havana the troops should land at Matanzas. It is a healthy port, and for the entire 48 miles to the capital they can march along the sea, all the time practically under cover of the guns of the fleet. Besides this Matanzas is not fortified to any formidable extent and can easily be reduced by a couple of well equipped contingents, across the island. Havana, is not well adapted to land troops. It is unhealthy, and besides the harbor is shoal and foul. "Throughout the coast districts there is a full and fresh sea breeze, setting in to blow every day at about 11 o'clock in the morning. They call it the 'life giving wind,' and in its range, if the fifth of the cities is avoided, there is not so much danger of sickness. At night the wind blows off the land. Just now the ships should have good weather and smooth seas, but after July 15 they must look out for hurricanes."—Philadelphia Press.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Dun's Review Says the World's Markets Are Evidently at Our Command—The Failures.

NEW YORK, June 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part:

Very little of the new business seen, in proportion to the aggregate, has been caused by the war. Neither has the collapse of the wheat speculation caused the expected decrease of shipments, nor exports continue remarkably large. Gold comes, or does not come, as we want it, the world's markets being evidently at our command. An offering of bonds by the government brings out at the start bids for more than three times the amount offered, while the popular subscription already for three quarters of the amount exhibits in strong light the confidence of the people.

After falling to 80 cents for cash and 77½ for July wheat rose to 83 for cash and 79 for July, with foreign demand. Corn was steady without much fluctuation.

The industries, at the season when stoppages are to be expected, maintain production surprisingly. There are very few interruptions on account of labor, and wage scales for the coming year have nearly all been amicably settled. The iron industry is very dull at the east, with complaint that prices do not rise, but at Pittsburg and the west the works are getting more business constantly.

Wool is stronger a shade, 100 quotations by Coates Bros. averaging 18.72 cents, against 18.64 June 1, but because of western demands, which are relatively 4 cents above prices which manufacturers will pay, excepting to fill immediate orders. As the future of the trade is in doubt, though with more hopeful prospects, sales of wool have been in three weeks only 11,695,300 pounds at the three chief markets, against 29,585,100 in the same weeks last year and 23,728,200 in the same weeks of 1892.

"Failures for the week have been 285 in the United States, against 216 last year, and 11 in Canada, against 24 last year.

THE STRIKERS QUIET.

Presence of Militia Had a Good Effect at Oshkosh, Wis.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 25.—The presence of 400 militiamen has prevented further rioting by the striking woodworkers. Several of the factories were in operation yesterday with reduced forces under military protection. Some fear is entertained that the non-union men may be molested away from the mill district, and last night there was a cavalry patrol on the south side, where the workmen live.

Dead—James Morris.
Injured—N. Blake, arm broken; O. N. Blake, Leroy Farr and F. Knope, cut about the head; John Pahle, badly injured; Peter Reeder, bruised; Peter Krueger, badly injured; — James, cut with stone; John Sness and Edward Casey, bruised; Charles Ross, struck with eggs and stones.

JENKS MAY BE THE MAN.

Believed Guffey Favors Him For Head of Pennsylvania Democratic Ticket.

PITTSBURG, June 25.—National Committeeman James M. Guffey returned yesterday morning from a short business trip east. The colonel declined to discuss the state campaign further than to say that the situation was unchanged. This is construed to mean that Mr. Guffey will not accept the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and that his personal choice for the place, Judge George A. Jenks, will be nominated.
